KISH AMBASSADORS AT LONDON AND PETROGRAD LEAVE CAPITALS AT ONCE

er Goeben Damaged During Bombardment Commenced by Turkey Near Sebastopol—700,000 Troops Waiting Orders to Proceed to Siania Peninsula.

London, Nov. 2.—The Turkish ambassador to Great Britain, Mr. Pasha, was handed his passports to-day.

Petrograd, Nov. 1.—The Turkish ambassador will be given his passports to-day.

All the Mohammedan newspapers are energetically denouncing Turkey's aggression against Russia and pledging the loyalty of the Moslems in Russia.

The Russian military authorities are overwhelmed with offers of volunteers, who although they are exempt from military duty, desire to serve.

Shore Near Sebastopol Bombarded.

Newspapers report that the cruisers Goeben and Breslau and four torpedo boats bombarded the shore near Sebastopol Saturday, shelling the railroad and the docks. The Russian shore batteries replied. The warships disappeared along the Crimean shore to the east.

Theodosia, on the Crimean coast, 100 miles northeast of Sebastopol, also suffered a bombardment on Saturday, when a Turkish ship sailed close enough to throw thirty shells into the city.

As has been received at the foreign office that the Russian ambassador has left Constantinople, but the Turkish minister here has received his passports or instructions from Constantinople.

Cruiser Goeben Reports She is Damaged.

Petrograd, Nov. 2.—A dispatch from Sebastopol says that the German cruiser Goeben's bombardment of that Black Sea fortress put to an end by the Constantinowzawa batteries, which forced the warship to withdraw. The shore station subsequently intercepted wireless message from the Goeben, which said: "Damaged. Will return to Constantinople for repairs."

London, Nov. 2.—A dispatch from the Express says a report has been received that 4000 Turks are waiting at Beyrut, and other ports for transport to the Siania Peninsula. The British and French fleets, it is said, are well guarded by British and French fleets.

An official informed, says the correspondent, that a circular, announcing the mobilization of the Greek army, has been received from the Greek government.

London, Nov. 2.—A dispatch from the Times from Petrograd Sunday says that a British official, who was in the city during the bombardment of the Turkish coast by the Goeben, says that the Turkish coast was damaged.

ELEVEN POWERS IN EUROPEAN WAR NOW

Russia and Great Britain Both Were Prepared for Turkey's Outbreak

ROUMANIA, BULGARIA AND GREECE ARE NEXT

Problem Faces the Allies in Regard to Action of Moslem Subjects

London, Nov. 1.—Turkey has definitely thrown in her lot with Austria and Germany, and if Portugal is counted there are now eleven powers at war, with prospects of three more, Greece, Bulgaria and Roumania being drawn in.

The note which Great Britain presented to Turkey on Friday last, demanding an explanation of the actions of the Turkish fleet in the Black Sea and dismantling of the former German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, was really an ultimatum to which Turkey was required to make a reply by Saturday evening.

So far as is known here, telegraphic communication with Turkey being interrupted, no answer was made and the ambassadors at the Ottoman capital of the triple entente demanded and received their passports.

Turkish troops which had been on the Egyptian border for some time, already are reported to have crossed the frontier, while the Turkish fleet continues to menace Russian towns and shipping in the Black Sea.

Neither Russia nor Great Britain was unprepared for this move by Turkey, which government officials knew to have been under the influence of Germany, and the allied powers have forces on hand ready to oppose a Turkish invasion.

When the regular forces were withdrawn from Egypt to take part in the war in Europe, they were immediately replaced by troops from home, much greater in number at least, and only last week they were ordered to the streets of Cairo, making a splendid impression.

The problem both for Britain and Russia, however, is the attitude of their Moslem subjects, who under ordinary circumstances would prefer not to fight against Turkey. In this war, however, they have rallied to the flag, as have all other forces under British or Russian rule, and care is being taken to explain to them that Turkey, under the direction of Germany, has been the aggressor.

Another problem relates to the attitude of Roumania, Bulgaria and Greece. Bulgaria, owing her existence to Russia and being under many obligations to Great Britain, besides being desirous of securing Thrace as far east as the Enos-Midia line, which she was awarded by the London conference after the first Balkan war, but which Turkey took when Bulgaria was attacked by Greece and Serbia, would naturally side with the entente powers, but political observers point out that fighting side by side with Greece and Serbia.

Russia, however, is expected to ask Bulgaria to join which side she is ranked as her neutrality under the circumstances, appears insufficient. Should she join the Austrians and Germans, Roumania is almost certain to declare for the allies, and Greece, even before this, has decided to take her revenge on Turkey. In fact, it is believed that her treaty with Serbia would compel her to take action should the latter be attacked by Bulgaria or Turkey.

London, Nov. 2.—A premium of sixty guineas per cent was paid at Lloyd's to-day to insure against a declaration of war by Turkey on one of the great powers by the end of November. This is the highest premium since the outbreak of the war.

ENGINEERS KILLED WHEN C.P.R. TRAIN STRIKES ROCKSLIDE

Vancouver, Nov. 2.—At 9.30 this morning a double-header freight train, eastbound on the C. P. R., struck a rock slide which had been brought down by the heavy rains near a tunnel three-quarters of a mile east of Hope, a station 81 miles from Vancouver. Both engines were derailed and slid down the steep bank into the Fraser river.

Two men were killed and a third is missing. The dead are Engineer J. H. Shapnel, 2935 Sixteenth Avenue, west, Vancouver, who was in the engine, and Fireman G. W. Kitley, of Vancouver; he was an engineer but acting to-day as fireman.

Fireman H. H. Morter, Vancouver, is probably dead, but there is a chance that he may yet be rescued.

Engineer Hugh A. Graham is not mentioned in the dispatch from the scene of the wreck, and presumably escaped.

Brakeman W. E. Webb was cut in the cheek, but not seriously hurt. Conductor W. Harris escaped.

The last serious eruption of Mount Vesuvius occurred in the spring of 1906. Several villages were destroyed and the property loss was estimated at $20,000,000. About 500 persons were killed and 50,000 were rendered homeless.

Many nations sent aid to the sufferers. There have been several eruptions since 1906, but all were of a minor character and no serious losses resulted.

London, Nov. 2.—Mount Vesuvius is again in eruption and the inhabitants in its vicinity have become greatly alarmed. Sunday special prayers were made and processions of people went to favored shrines, as a repetition of the disaster of 1906 is feared.

The activity of the volcano first became manifest by deep detonations and rumblings. This was followed by gigantic columns of smoke and soon thereafter an abundant eruption of lava began.

BELGIAN STATEMENT CLAIMS POELKAPPEL

German Troops Suffer Moral Depression; 7,683 Taken Prisoners in Week

OFFENSIVE OF ENEMY ALONG YSER FAILING

French Military Critic Thinks Germany Has Made Her Strongest Effort

Paris, Nov. 2.—The allied troops, according to official information here, are still meeting the most vigorous offensive movements of the Germans in Belgium and France. To date the French and British assert that the balance of gains in this section indicated soon by a general and definite withdrawal of the enemy on the right bank of the Yser.

While it is admitted that the allies have not regained all the lost ground in the valley of the Yser, their known gains in that region give every hope of a general success. In the vicinity of Nieupoort and Dixmude the enemy has been repulsed beyond the railway, while inundation affected between the Yser and the Nieupoort-Dixmude line has rendered the ground there so swampy that German trenches have become uninhabitable. The last fact is noted in the latest Belgian official statement.

Referring to the developments on the line from Dixmude to Ypres, the Belgian statement is precise in its announcement that Poelkapelle had been surrounded by the allies.

Poelkapelle is an important point, as it is the centre of the network of communication between the railways between Dixmude and Ypres, Roulers and Thourout. The French say there is more significance in the announcement that in one week 7,683 German prisoners have been taken than appears on its face. They assert that with such a number of men gathered in, it indicated that the German troops are becoming worn out or are suffering from moral depression. Sanitary measures to avoid epidemics are being taken on a large scale by the French.

Six thousand commences in France which are seen, the ravages of war will be visited sooner or later. Of this number there are eleven hundred where hygienic measures will be taken immediately.

Colonel Roussel, the military critic, in reviewing the recent operations declares it is impossible to say how long the war will last or whether Germany still can find enough men to prolong the contest. He believes he is able to affirm, however, that they have made their strongest efforts.

London, Nov. 2.—The Belgian war office issued to-day the following communication: "This morning the enemy who still occupied part of Ramscapelle, was repulsed beyond the railway line between Nieupoort and Dixmude. They lost a great number of prisoners and left many wounded on the field."

In the other parts of our front the enemy made no further infantry attacks. The bombardment was rather violent at Nieupoort during part of the day and intermittent on other points of our position.

The inundation between the Yser and the railway line between Nieupoort and Dixmude has made the ground marshy and the trenches of the enemy unworkable.

To the south of Dixmude, between Lingden and Paschendaale, the French troops have continued their offensive movement. Poelkapelle was completely surrounded last night.

At the south of Paschendaale the British troops were violently attacked by German reinforcements, but had taken at the end of the day the ground they had been forced to cede in the neighborhood of Chelcut.

In several other parts of the front the British have repulsed the attacks by the Germans, inflicting upon them important losses.

On the other part of the front there is no general action, but slight offensive movements have been repulsed by the allies and by the enemy.

The French have progressed almost everywhere, especially on the heights of the right bank of the Aisne, below Soissons and on both sides of the Meuse, north of Verdun."

FIGHTING LINE IS CHANGED BY ANGLO-FRENCH ASSAULTS

All Reports From Western War Theatre Are to the Effect That Considerable Gains Have Been Made, Particularly From the Sea to the Lys.

Several Trains of Cannon and Submarines on Way to Belgian Coast for the Cross-Channel Attack Are Held at Bruges.

London, Nov. 2.—A dispatch to Reuter's from Amsterdam says: "The Handelsblad says that all the German attacks yesterday north of Nieupoort were repulsed and in some cases the Germans were forced back several kilometres, while the allies on the left advanced to Midlekerke. The whole coastline occupied by the Germans is strongly fortified and trenches have been thrown up near Knoche."

The Flushing correspondent of Reuter's says: "Heavy firing can be heard in Sluis from the direction of Thourout. Everything indicates that the Germans are retreating from Dixmude."

A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam says a report received there from Flushing declares that heavy firing was heard all day Sunday near the Dutch frontier. The dispatch adds, it is reported that allies re-occupied Mariakerke, on the sea southwest of Ostend.

Germans Compelled to Leave Lille

The correspondent of the Times in Northern France telegraphs that the allies have penetrated to the north and east of Lille, which, he says, certainly has been evacuated by the Germans, and there is good reason to believe that it has been occupied by the allies.

The correspondent says that a report has reached him that as a result of the blowing up of a railway bridge by a Belgian cyclist corps, a very large German force was cut off from the main army and many thousands have surrendered.

Germans Do Not Send Guns Forward.

The Exchange Telegraph Company's correspondent at The Hague send the following: "Several trains filled with cannon and submarines, bound from Germany to the Belgian coast, and destined for the proposed attack on the English coast, have passed Liege, but having been stopped at Bruges until further notice, the attack on England having been postponed until the present battle is decided."

"Germany has prohibited the importation of Dutch newspapers into any part of the German empire."

Official Statement from Paris Shows That Forward Movement of Allies is General

Paris, Nov. 2.—The French official announcement given by the French war office yesterday says that the German attack on the French left wing, particularly between Dixmude and the Lys, continued with great violence. In spite of the attacks of the enemy in this region the French made slight progress.

The text of the communication follows: "On our left wing the German offensive continued yesterday with the same violence in Belgium and in the north of France, particularly between Dixmude and the Lys. In this region, in spite of attacks and counter attacks on the part of the German, we made slight progress on almost the entire front, excepting at the village of Arnes, a portion which again was lost by the allied troops."

The enemy undertook an important movement against the suburbs of Arras. This resulted in failure, as did other movements against Lipons and Lequensoy on Saturday.

On the centre, in the region of the Aisne, we made slight progress in the direction of Tracy le Val, to the north of the forest of Aigue, as well as at certain points on the right bank of the Aisne, between this forest and Holsaons.

At Amont de Valley an attack directed against those of our troops who are in possession of the heights on the right bank of the Aisne also resulted in failure. The same outcome attended several night attacks in the heights of the highway des Dames.

In the region of Rhims, between the Argonne and the Meuse and on the heights of the Meuse, there was no fighting yesterday a recrudescence of activity on the part of the enemy's artillery. The bombardment of pieces, however, did not show any appreciable result.

Retirement

Berlin, via London, Nov. 2.—Official reports from the western front show little change in the situation in Northern France and in Belgium, but events in Poland would appear to be shaping themselves for a renewal of the fighting between the main forces of Russia and the Austro-German allies.

The Austrians and the Germans have completed their retirement to new positions previously selected by them, says the report. "When the vanguards of the Russians, who were following them, were several miles behind, in which the Russians were driven off."

The Austrians in Southern Galicia have succeeded in crushing back the Russian left flank which for several days has been making a desperate stand in carefully prepared positions between Turka and Strzyzow. The Russians employed the pause in the fighting after the Austrian retirement from this region to entrench themselves. They built strong field fortifications, which were made more difficult of access by the broken nature of the country, consequently it was a hard task to eject them. The Austrians claim a complete victory and report that the enemy was driven from all his positions. The Austrians also report further successes in Bukovina. They have retained their hold on Czernowicz against a Russian attack and they have defeated a Russian force to the north of Ruty.

A British report of the loss of the British cruiser Hermes last Saturday was made public here to-day. No particulars were given.

A dispatch received here from Constantinople says it is understood the Turkish government will neither expect nor object to the transfer of the powers composing the Triple Entente nor interfere with those destined to leave."

GERMAN SUBMARINE GOT TANGLED IN FISH NETS

London, Nov. 2.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Rotterdam says that a Ymuiden steam trawler reports that Friday while fishing in latitude 54 north and longitude 4 east, a submarine became entangled in the nets and sent up a rocket.

The captain hailed the submarine in English, but received no reply, and the trawler abandoned the nets and returned to port.

The Daily Mail's Amsterdam correspondent says it was the famous German submarine U-9 which got tangled in the trawler's fishnets.

CRUISER HERMES SUNK
BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

Enemy's Destroyer in Straits of Dover Saturday Sinks
British Ship

Dover, via London, Nov. 1.—It is ascertained that the British cruiser Hermes, which was sunk by a German submarine on Saturday was attacked 17 miles east by southeast of Goodwin Sands, in the straits of Dover, at 8.15 o'clock in the forenoon. A number of torpedo-boat destroyers immediately rushed to the assistance of the wounded ship, which floated three-quarters of an hour after being struck and then heeled over and sank.

Meantime, the destroyers rescued the greater number of the crew of 365, while other vessels scoured the sea in an endeavor to locate the submarine. Two men were killed and 19 were wounded. The survivors were landed here.

The Hermes was a comparatively old vessel and from a naval standpoint, was of no great value, but the fact that she was attacked so near home indicates that the German submarines must have a base somewhere on the part of the Belgian coast which is occupied by German troops, from which they can menace ships of the allies passing between England and France. Only a few days ago one of them sank the French steamer Admiral Gantheaume, which was carrying refugees from Calais.

How many submarines the Germans have in these waters is not known, but several of them have been seen recently. When the ships are guarded by torpedo-boat destroyers, as those engaged in bombarding the German positions, they are comparatively safe, but the opportunity of the submarines comes when one is caught alone, as was the Hermes.

The Hermes was a protected second-class cruiser of 5,600 tons, length 359 feet, beam 54 feet and depth 20 1/2 feet. Her speed was 20 knots. She carried eleven 6-inch, nine 12-pounders and eight 3-pounder guns. She was built at the Fairfield yards, the date of her completion being 1900. The Lightship and the Hyacinth are cruisers of the same type. Their complement is 472 officers and men.

CAPTAIN DOLLAR SAYS
BRAZIL WAS AT FAULT

Failure to Get Transfer Not Due to Britain or United States.

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—Complete exoneration of the British and American governments from any blame or criticism in connection with the failure of the British steamer Robert Dollar to obtain a transfer to the American flag in the harbor of Rio de Janeiro last month was embodied in a statement given to the Associated Press to-day by Captain Dollar, owner of the vessel. According to his version of the affair the Brazilian government was at fault.

He says the vessel's failure to transfer her registry was not because of any action taken by the British, as has been reported, for the British council at Rio de Janeiro first agreed to the transfer and later, September 23, cabled his willingness to clear the ship under the British flag when it appeared that otherwise she must be interned to the end of the war.

After serving as one of the senior members of the executive council for British Columbia, he was promoted president of the legislative council, and from 1885 to 1886 was administrator of the colony. He resumed his duties in the colonial office the following year.

Tokio, Nov. 1.—The navy department announced that the Japanese squadron, assisted by British warships, masked by a mist, approached and vigorously and effectively bombarded the forts at Tsing Tau October 29. Some of the defence works were destroyed and on the next day the bombardment was repeated. Only the water's northeast fort replied to the bombardment.

The funnel of a gunboat was shattered by the Japanese shells.

DEWET IS GIVEN FIVE DAYS TO MAKE PEACE

Col. Alberts Defeats Rebels in Lichtenburg District; Many Are Captured

London, Nov. 2.—The Dutchan correspondent of the Daily Mail says the government at Pretoria has granted General Dewet, the rebel leader, a five-days' armistice, presumably in order to arrange peace.

A dispatch to Reuters from Cape Town says: "Col. Alberts has defeated the rebels in the Lichtenburg district of the Transvaal, killing 12, wounding 30 and capturing 240. Among the captured is Commandant Claassen.

"Commandant De Villiers was out reconnoitering when he met a strong rebel command with white flags attached to their rifles. De Villiers approached the band, whereupon the rebels attacked him and captured 410 of his men. The rebels then advanced against Col. Alberts and from two directions opened fire, but Alberts defeated them and chased them twenty miles across the border. In their flight the rebels discarded their carts and bicycles."

BRUSSELS INDEMNITY
NINE MILLION DOLLARS

Amsterdam via London, Nov. 2.—A telegram received here from Berlin announces that after protracted negotiations the war indemnity to the Germans from the city of Brussels has been fixed at 6,000,000 francs ($9,000,000) payable 2,000,000 francs ($3,000,000) weekly.

The Germans occupied Brussels August 20. According to a dispatch from Antwerp to a London newspaper, they assessed against the city a war levy of $40,000,000. At the same time they were reported to have levied on the province of Brabant, of which Brussels is the capital, for $90,000,000. This dispatch, however, was never officially confirmed. A later telegram from Flushing said Brussels had paid $4,000,000 of the $40,000,000 demanded.

THE WAR.

All reports agree that the Germans given up the Nieuport-Dixmude as a bad job and are retreating. The resistance of the Belgians, supplemented by the inundation of the valley of the Yser from Dixmude towards the coast, has made progress impossible. From Nieuport the allies, protected by the guns of the fleet, have advanced along the coast and one report states that they have occupied Middelkerke, six miles southwest of Ostend. The occupation of the celebrated Belgian resort should follow within a few days if it is not already accomplished. The Germans are fortifying very strongly the north-west coast-line of Belgium beyond Ostend, obviously to cover a retirement to the Bruges-Ostend line. They are gradually being driven inland from the Belgian coast and must forego their interesting project of using certain points on the sea as bases for submarine attacks upon the British fleet.

Failure to penetrate between Dixmude and the coast has spurred the invaders to renewed efforts to get through between Dixmude and the Yser. It is the key to this route and it is strongly held by the allies, who are said by the Belgian and French official reports to have progressed towards the north and the east, although south of Ypres they again have lost part of the village of Messines, the attack on which apparently was carried out by the German troops which occupied Lille. If, however, the German withdrawal from Lille was due to the progress of the allies north of it from Arras, it would prove that they have made a telling advance in a locality of vital importance to the German line. The pressure exercised by the allies there is undoubtedly responsible for the renewed German activity north of the Aisne and in the Argonne.

Little has come through regarding the operations along the Meuse. Berlin claims gains in that region, while the French declare they are more than holding their own. General Joffre does not believe the German activities on this front are more than feints, but he is adopting all precautions against any serious development there. Since the war began he has had one eye constantly on that region, realizing that once the French resistance there broke down the menace to France would be much more formidable than the onslaught from Belgium.

Very little has come from the eastern front to-day. Berlin announces that the German armies in Poland have "withdrew successfully to prepared positions," evidently along the Warthe. This is a graceful admission of defeat, the nature of which can be appraised in the light of the fact that one portion of the invading army withdrew nearly a hundred miles. When the war began we were told that the German army never would retreat; that it would die to a man first. The backward march of von Kluck from the Marne and the retirement of the army which marched upon the Vistula have shown to the world that when it comes to retreating the Germans hold the record for speed. In both cases they retreated so rapidly that their pursuers never got into touch with any part of them except a straggled rear guard.

Following Turkey's intervention in the war, Greece has mobilized her army and navy. The former comprises more than two hundred thousand well-trained, well-led and excellently equipped men, veterans of the recent war and brimful of patriotism and hatred of the Turk. The navy includes two former United States dreadnoughts and a number of rather ancient cruisers. During the war with Turkey the Greek fleet was handled with considerable skill and daring. Of course, the allies have an enormous naval superiority in the Mediterranean, and Turkey will be unable to move a solitary soldier across the water. She can only reach points of attack by long marches across the desert. If domestic conditions in Egypt remain normal Britain should have no difficulty in keeping the enemy, Turkish regulars or marauding Bedouins, across the Sinai peninsula. Evidently the Australian and New Zealand contingents of nearly thirty thousand men are in Egypt. These with the local garrison and native troops supported by the fleet can attend to all comers. Before long, however, Turkey will have to concern herself with a more pressing problem than the invasion of Russia through the Caucasus or Egypt through Syria, and that problem will be the defence of Constantinople.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

Some of the officers in command of the Canadian contingent now in training in England have spoken against the suggestion that the Dominion troops should parade through the streets of London. They say that they have a stern job on their hands, that the sooner they tackle it the better, and that parades and demonstrations can be deferred until the task for which they were organized is finished. In this they are quite right. The British expeditionary forces on the continent held no parades in the Old Country centres before they left for the front. The majority of the people did not know when, where or how they went. They were mobilized and moved silently and mysteriously. The same course should be adopted in regard to the Canadian troops. The war in which they are to take part is the most desperate struggle in history. The business before them is of unparalleled grimness, and while the suggestion that they should hold a show parade through the streets is kindly meant, and appreciated, the argument is not opportune for anything of the kind.

MORE TAXATION.

Reports from Ottawa forecast another upward revision of the tariff next session. The excuse urged for increased taxation is the decline in the revenue in consequence of the war. But the revenue began to drop off early this year, according to the returns issued by the government, and the excuse, therefore, is not well-founded.

Parliament recently authorized an increase in the duties on sugar and a few other products in view of the necessity of raising a loan of $50,000,000 for war purposes. There was practically no opposition to the measure, but further increases will not go through so easily. It need not be forgotten that the government's fiscal policy is high protection and that it has been working gradually to that end ever since it gained office. Canada is one of the highest taxed countries in the world, its cost of living is much the highest. Raising the barriers against imports may help the manufacturers of the east, but it will work havoc in the west, increasing the cost of necessities and strangling development and progress.

The Canadian government should do what the provinces and municipalities are doing—cut down its expenses. If its revenue is falling off it should reduce its expenditures accordingly, not seek to make up the difference by increasing taxation. When a private business house finds its outlay greater than its income it usually reduces its outlay. This is common sense and in the end the government would find it the best policy.

A "HOLY WAR."

Of all the delusions Germany has cherished in the last few years none is more fantastic than the idea that by proclaiming a holy war against Christianity through Constantinople she can detach the Asiatic and African possessions of Great Britain and France. This ancient scare-crow has been trotted out at intervals for many centuries in utter indifference to the fact that the world has changed a trifle since the days when Crusader and Saracen wrestled for the possession of the Holy Sepulchre.

There are more tests in Islam than there are among the Christians. Mohammed himself predicted that there would be seventy-three, but there are something like two hundred of them. They are divided by a hundred and one distinctions, some pronounced and some insignificant. Politics is a considerable cause of division, while locality and tribal prejudices are others.

The Mohammedans of Africa have been warring with one another for ages. They have nothing but their faith in common with the followers of the Prophet in Turkey, India and Asia Minor. The splendid soldiery organized by Kitchener in Egypt prostrated themselves with true Oriental devotion towards Mecca and then went forth to slatter the hosts of the Khalifa, who had been worshipping at the same shrine with similar fervor. They all agreed that Allah was the true God and Mohammed the only prophet, and then, forgetting it, rushed at one another with bayonet and scimitar with the fury of Ugurs.

There is no reason to apprehend that the Mohammedans of India will not be loyal to their homeland and the government over them; that the Mohammedans of Egypt will not strike a lusty blow for Egypt. The conspiracies in both dependencies which have found expression during the last few years in bomb outrages have not sprung from a propaganda of religion, but from a species of misguided nationalism. The watchword of the seditionists of those colonies has not been India or Egypt for the Mohammedans, but India and Egypt for the Indians and Egyptians. The leaders of the movement desire to obtain control of affairs, not to promote the precepts of the Prophet, but to enrich themselves in the most material sense. If a revolution broke out in India to-morrow it would not be in response to a call from Constantinople, and among those who would fight to put it down would be thousands who every evening bow themselves in all reverence towards the home mosque of their faith.

STRONGER THAN EVER.

On Trafalgar Day the Admiralty announced that since the war began twenty-two new fighting vessels of different kinds have been added to the navy.

That brings the British naval strength up enormously. One only can surmise as to which ships have actually joined the first battle squadron, but one or two facts make it clear that at least four new dreadnoughts, one battle cruiser and several oil-burning light cruisers, "destroyers" of destroyers," as Mr. Churchill called them, are included among these twenty-two new ships.

The first fact of significance is that the two battle dreadnoughts taken over from the Turkish government at the outbreak of hostilities, the Reshadieh and the Oehlul, then completing in British private yards, had their crews told off for readiness during the week of September 15. The crew assembles and the officers were appointed to the command. Since then nothing has been heard of these two ships. But they certainly have been completed, and have left their ports. They are now H. M. S. Erin and Agincourt.

There are two sister ships of the Iron Duke, namely, the Benbow and the Emperor of India. They were at the beginning of September on the verge of completion, one at Glasgow, the other at Barrow-in-Furness. It is probable that these super-dreadnoughts are at sea.

There are two other super-dreadnoughts, which are being rushed to completion. As far as one can discover, they have not yet put to sea, namely, the Queen Elizabeth and the Warspite. Both of these were completing in government yards and were to be delivered in the ordinary course of events this year. Night and day work has been put in upon these ships and they must be ready, if not at sea.

These two ships will be the only two vessels in the world carrying the most powerful naval gun yet used—the 15-inch gun. This is the gun of which Mr. Churchill said recently:

"Its power may be measured by the fact that whereas the 13.5 inch gun bursts a 1,400 lb. projectile, this 15 in. gun discharges a projectile of nearly a ton in weight, and can hug this mass of metal ten or twelve miles. That is to say, there has been an increase of rather more than 20 per cent—I am purposely vague on the point—in the weight of the projectile for an addition of 1½ in. to the calibre."

"The high explosive charge which the 16 in. gun can carry through and get inside the thickest armor afloat is very nearly half as large again in the 15 in. gun as was the charge in the 13.5 inch gun."

It is known that the Arctura and the Undaunted, the hero of the last naval engagement with destroyers, two of the oil-burning cruisers, are actually at sea with the fleet. What is not known is how many of the sixteen cruisers of this class, all to be delivered this year, actually have been completed.

It is probable that three or four, in addition to the Undaunted and Arctura, are in Jellie's command.

At the beginning of the war the Dutch newspapers were strongly inclined to waver. The German cause. But the stolid Dutch are near the scene of German activity, and they have seen goings-on that opened their eyes. Consequently the editors in Holland are telling the truth. Hence the Kaiser has issued a decree that no Dutch newspapers shall be permitted to cross the border. The situation might become tense should the people of Germany learn that with all the awful sacrifice of life, with wounded being transported across the frontier in thousands daily—engendering apprehension that there are other thousands who never will come back—the German armies are being driven steadily back and that soon all the horrors of war according to Prussian standards will be directly experienced by deluded Germans.

Advices in Wall Street from British sources have been cheerful of late. For instance, says the Wall Street Journal, one large house obtained a letter from a New York correspondent on the other side, in which the following view was expressed: "The German army is now like a wounded bull elephant in a jungle, which in time must bleed to death, but for the present is a dangerous adversary. It makes mad rushes, the ultimate effect of which must be to hasten the end, although for the time being heavy losses may be inflicted upon those who come in the way of its frenzied charges. The allies are not taking the offensive, do not need to. They are content to hold their ground and await the results of the other's efforts.

The invasion of England, a dispatch says, has been postponed by the Kaiser. Probably the landing stations for the Zeppelins in the tight little Isle have not been completed. Yet we think we can assure his majesty of terrible mind, that the British people will give his great aerial fleet a warm welcome and assist its descent to the utmost of their power.

Hoch, der Kaiser! The Turks say he has joined the Mohammedans and is leading a holy war against the dogs of Christians. Next thing we shall hear, probably, is that his majesty is lifting up his voice in thanksgiving for "victory after victory" in the mosque of St. Sophia.

Prussianism is progressing in its path of world domination. It already has succeeded in dominating Turkey, the Sick Man of Europe, who soon will be a dead dog, as far as further trouble-making among the nations is concerned.

Prussia and Turkey, the heavenly twins. The Kaiser and the Sultan, disseminators of culture. May they go down together to the place where they belong.

CANADA.

New York Herald.
Just what Count von Helldorf, can hope to gain by spreading in this country the suggestion that Germany may attack and occupy Canada. It is difficult to understand. Can he imagine that Americans are so enamored of German "kultur" as to welcome in Belgium that they would welcome its appearance on this continent?

It would seem that the first rule of a German diplomacy—binding its energies to create a favorable American public sentiment would be to let that particular "sleeping dog" lie. If there is one thing more calculated than any other to make Americans give ear to the foolish talk of those persons who would have the United States break its neutrality and give all aid and comfort to the allies, it is the picture Count von Helldorf paints of German armies "choking their way" in Canada.

Dr. Dernburg, second in command of the German publicity propaganda, rushes to the fore with assurance that Germany's love for the Monroe doctrine is so great it would never contemplate invasion of Canada. Can Dr. Dernburg expect the American people to attach any more value to his assurances than the German government does to its treaties?

The only possible effect of Dr. Dernburg's disclaimer is to focus attention on the Von Helldorff picture—and to make Americans do a lot of thinking.

TOMMY ATKINS AS A FIGHTER.

New York Herald.
Trace Tommy Atkins back until there was no regular British soldier back there a thousand years to the time of William the Conqueror, and the record reveals him almost constantly fighting and gripping and holding territory. He is unequalled for these combined three qualities. Soldiers of other nations have fought nobly and valiantly and often, but the results of the English soldier's fighting is that his country's drunkest circles the world and the sun never sets on her dominions.

THE SADDEST LESSON.

North American Review.
But perhaps the greatest lesson of all, and which the saddest is the saddest value to be attached to treaties, the little reliance to be placed upon the plighted word of kings, the mockery of rulers talking peace, when there is no peace. To-day as in the past, nations must rely on their own strength, on their courage, on their fortitude,

Alterations at Theatre.—Alterations are to be made at the Empress theatre near the corner of Government and Yates streets. A civic committee has been appointed to look into the matter, as the architect desires to use mill construction, which is illegal in class A limits under the building by-law.

Time for Registering.—Notices have been issued by the clerks of the Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils that those who wish to be placed on the municipal rolls for the respective municipalities, as householders or ratepayers, must register within the present month. Declaration forms may be obtained at the municipal halls.

Was Pioneer of Cariboo.—The death occurred in Port Gamble, Hood Canal, on Friday of Winfield Scott Jameson, one of the early pioneers of the Cariboo country. The late Mr. Jameson was born in Maine, was one of the "forty-niners" in California and in 1858 he settled near Portland. He joined the rush to the Cariboo in 1859 and the year following he returned here and then proceeded to Port Gamble, where he settled down for life. He was a frequent visitor to the city in earlier days and was well known to the old-timers here.

Asked to Attend.—At the meeting called by the Victoria and District Unemployed league for to-morrow, the following have been invited to occupy seats on the platform: The acting premier and G. H. Barnard, M. P., and the mayor and members of the city council. The Variety theatre has been placed at the disposal of the committee. The speakers will be asked to deal with the following question: "Do the government and the council accept responsibility for dealing with the present situation, and if so what are the government and council going to do to relieve the problem of distress?"

Sons of Scotland Concert.—Alisa Craig camp, No. 71, Sons of Scotland Benevolent association, were the hosts at a very enjoyable "Hallowe'en" entertainment held on Friday evening in the A. O. F. hall, the event being the first of its kind celebrated by the organization here. A very delightful programme of games traditionally consecrated to the festive eve were indulged in, and a very good programme was provided by Rev. Mr. Gibson, Piper Cameron, Miss Miller, Miss Dooley and Messrs. Walker, Simpson, Melville, Douglas, Gascoyne, Bryce, and Master Ward. For the dancing which filled in part of the evening Mrs. Ridgard's orchestra supplied a very fine programme of musical numbers, and it was in the wee sma' hours of Saturday that the party disbanded after a memorable celebration of the festival. R. Mackintosh, chief of the camp, was in the chair, and his worship, Mayor Stewart, occupied a place on the platform.

Sepia's the last word in fine photography. Just the thing for Xmas presents. The Skene Lowe Studio, 654 Yates street, corner Douglas.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, November 2, 1889.

His excellency Lord Stanley, accompanied by Lady Stanley, were driven to Esquimalt yesterday, accompanied by Col. E. G. Prior, M. P. The dry-dock and naval yard were visited.

A fatal accident occurred on H. M. S. Swiftsure Saturday evening. During drill aloft a seaman named Rickett fell from the foretopmost rigging, and received internal injuries. He died at the Royal Naval hospital.

A meeting of the friends of the British Columbia Agricultural Association will be held in the city hall on Thursday evening, November 7, at 7.30. Business: Election of officers.

Douglas Sladen, a poet and litterateur of Australia, is in the city and will remain for about a week. Notable among his poems are "Edward, the Black Prince," "The Spanish Armada," "Australian Lyrics" and "A Party of Exiles." Mr. Sladen is signally gifted in other departments of letters. He is to supply the Australian phraseology for the Century Dictionary.

Building Permits.—Building permits were granted to 21 persons in the month that has just closed. Dr. William Russell has taken out a permit for a private garage at 1378 Begbie street.

Bank Clearings.—The bank clearings in Victoria for the month of October were $9,012,304, as against $15,77,259 for the corresponding month of 1913, and $17,725,643 for October 1912. In September of this year the clearings were $9,214,571.

Ready For Case.—The city solicitor has filed the answer to the amended statement of claim in the Westholme Lumber company's suit arising out of Sooke waterworks. The only formalities to be carried out now is for the plaintiffs' counsel to ask the registrar of the supreme court to set down the day for hearing, which has been arranged by consent for Monday week.

Spouts' Field Day.—The lads of Fifth Troop, Boy Scouts, had a paper chase on Saturday afternoon, enjoying an eight-mile run out through the Gorge and Garden City districts. The hares just managed to get in ahead of the hounds. The next run will be a dispatch-racing one. Last evening at St. Jude's church, Archdeacon Scriven conducted special services in connection with harvest thanksgiving which was attended by the Tillicum patrol of the Fifth Troop.

Evangelist Holds Services.—The week-end services at the Salvation Army barracks were taken charge of by Mr. Sampson, the Cornish evangelist, who is at present visiting the city. Meetings held on Saturday evening, Sunday morning, afternoon and evening, were all under his leadership, the congregation, however, owing to the unfavorable weather, being little larger than usual. Mr. Sampson will be in the city for about a week longer, and to-morrow evening will speak to the residents and visitors at the Strangers' rest, Government street.

Went Too Far.—Hallowe'en games are all very well, and residents do not object so much if the youngsters confine their gambols to the usual unfencing objects. But Vale & Sons, of Government street, have good cause to complain of the damage their premises received during the celebrations by some rascals who let their zeal outrun their discretion. Two large plate glass windows were found broken yesterday in the store, and the stones which did the damage were found inside the shop. The police are now investigating the matter, and will doubtless bring the offenders to book before long.

Saanich Council Business.—At the meeting of the Saanich council to-morrow evening tenders, which close to-day, for the grading of Gorge road from Harriet road to the Cross road, and from the cross road to Craigflower bridge, will be opened. The council is advised that it cannot proceed with any work under the by-laws passed in September, not even the printing of the debenture coupons, etc., and similar preliminary business, as it is necessary to allow an interval to elapse after the institution of proceedings to quash the waterworks and paving by-laws. The general revenue being less this year, it is the intention to proceed cautiously in the starting of new works.

Many Enjoyed Concert.—The fourth of the series of regular Sunday evening popular concerts, given by the Victoria Concert orchestra, under the leadership of Benedict Bantly, took place last evening, and was attended by a big audience in spite of the inclement weather. The orchestra played several novelties, amongst which was an intermezzo, "Starlight," which proved a delightful short selection which was sparklingly performed. The most important number given by the orchestra, however, was the overture to "Lohengrin," which was played with real military character. The vocalists of the evening were Miss Barker, who possesses a remarkably clear and rich soprano, her best number being Wynne's "Through Love to Light," and Hartly Morden, who again delighted his audience with his spirited rendering of rousing patriotic songs, including "The Sons of the Sea," "O Canada," and the ever-popular "Tipperary," in the chorus of which the audience joined with gusto.

Had Hallowe'en Social.—A merry crowd of young and old gathered on Saturday evening at Emmanuel Baptist Church parlors for the Hallowe'en social which had been arranged, and all the old-fashioned festivities associated with the occasion were duly observed. A "chamber of horrors" was not as unpopular as the name might imply, and a fortune-teller was very much sought after during the evening. Boys, impervious to a wetting, grew hilarious in the honored custom of diving for apples, and a programme of other traditional games filled in a frolicsome evening. Toward the close of the proceedings, just before refreshments were served, Kenneth Bignell told a "chamber of horrors," which was capped by another from the pastor, Rev. William Stevenson, the jack-o'-lanterns starting from their surroundings of evergreens and flowers, contributing to the realism of the tale. The proceedings came to an end soon after 11 o'clock, with a liberal supply of sandwiches and cake.

Just sitting tight in a squally weather won't do—a firm pair of hands at the oars is much better. When the ground swell from Europe hit our industries, the wise men did not merely sit still. They glimpsed fair water ahead, and saw still further on the harbor of prosperity.

They began to row and they are getting there. One of the best pair of oars a business man can use when things begin to slacken up is definite, constructive, business building advertising in the daily newspapers. Can we tell you how?

A VARIED PROGRAMME

Convention of Moral and Social Reform Council Will Open on Thursday.

In connection with the annual meeting of the Moral and Social Reform Council of British Columbia, to be held in this city on Thursday and Friday of this week, there will be a convention of all interested in the moral and social advancement of British Columbia. The following programme has been prepared:

On Thursday afternoon "The Land Question" will be discussed by Rev. Father O'Boyle, of Vancouver, and "The Labor Situation in British Columbia," by J. Wilkinson. In the evening addresses will be given by the president, Prof. G. C. Pidgeon, on "The Social Problems of British Columbia," and by Principal W. H. Vance, who will speak on "The Problems of Our Cities." Rev. Dr. C. T. Scott will also speak, and the chair will be taken by Bishop Macdonald.

The Friday morning meeting will be given up to a study of "Our Laws and Their Enforcement." Rev. J. S. Henderson, secretary for British Columbia of the social service board of the Presbyterian church, will give a resume of "Moral Conditions in Our Province." Rev. William Stevenson, of this city, will lead a discussion on "The State of Our Laws," and Rev. Robert Connell will speak on "The Enforcement of Our Laws." This will be followed by the discussion of a temperance policy for British Columbia.

The Friday afternoon meeting will be productive of reports from various districts in the Province on the question of social service. There will also be reports on rescue work now being done. Rev. Hugh Dobson, secretary of the Methodist board of social service for Alberta and British Columbia will take charge of a question drawer. The Bishop of Columbia will take the chair at the Friday evening session, when an address will be given on the subject of "Sabbath Observance." Rev. C. H. Huestis, secretary of the Lord's Army of Western Canada, will be the speaker. Dr. A. P. Procter, of Vancouver, will also speak on "Scientific Temperance," and Rev. Hugh Dobson will deal with "Forces Behind the Moral Issues of the Day."

NOT A DOLLAR LOST.

It will be remembered that the Royal Commission appointed some time ago by the Dominion government to examine the standing of all life insurance companies made a most searching investigation into their affairs. On page 2904 of the Royal Commission's report, the following reference was made to the Mutual Life of Canada: "One of the very best companies that we have examined, the Mutual company, and the one that showed fewer shortcomings than any of the others." Since the Mutual Life of Canada was founded in the year 1869, covering a period of nearly half a century, "not one dollar received from its policyholders, has been lost out of the millions invested for their security"—a truly phenomenal record. R. L. Drury, Manager; Fred. M. McGregor, and T. E. Mariner, Special Agents; Offices, 918 Government street.

Add to Church Fund.—As the result of a sale of work held last Wednesday under the combined auspices of the Women's Guild of Christ Church cathedral and the Guild of St. Agnes, the sum of $170 was cleared in behalf of the fund for the proposed church at Fowl bay.

Once More in Jail.—Treating the whole affair as a joke, Sam, a Chinaman who left jail only a week ago after a two-month term, was sent back this morning to enjoy three more months in the public employ after a conviction for vagrancy. He laughed heartily all through the hearing, apparently at nothing. The evidence was that Sam was in the habit of prowling about at all hours of the night and accosting belated travelers for money. Evidence to this effect was given by J. Henderson, who was so accosted at 2 o'clock this morning. Mr. Henderson put the prisoner into a hack that happened to be passing and brought him to the police station, in describing the occurrence Sam said, smilingly: "He ask me to lunch with him, and he bring me to police station."

Mrs. Harold Grant, of Linden avenue, entertained at the "tea hour" last week in honor of her house-guest, Mrs. Herman Erb, of "Rose Lake," Bulkley Valley.

One of the last October weddings was that which was solemnized at St. Mary's church, Burns street, on Saturday evening, between Fedora Harriet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James Alder, 1936 North Hampshire road, and Freeman George, second son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jynellson, 1219 Newport avenue. The Rev. G. H. Andrews conducted the ceremony. To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March the bridal party proceeded down the beautifully decorated aisle, preceded by the little flower girl, Miss Eva Milne. The bride, attended by her father, who gave her away, came next, beautifully attired in white tulle over white satin and with trimmings of shadow lace, her ornament being a beautiful pearl and ruby pendant, the gift of the groom, and her bridal bouquet of roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Immediately behind them in the procession was the maid-of-honor, Miss Bina Brynjolfson, sister of the bride; groomsmen, who wore a frock of pale blue, carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations. The two bridesmaids, Miss Joyce Clayton and Miss Ethel Weeks, wearing blue chiffon and satin and blue chiffon and pink satin respectively, each carried bouquets of pink carnations, and completed the pretty group. W. C. Macdonald acted as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Charles and Richard Catterall. After the ceremony, which was witnessed by many of the friends of the happy pair, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where, during the evening, delicious refreshments were served. Later in the evening many of the guests accompanied the bride and bridegroom to the midnight boat for Vancouver, from which place they will journey to Prince George via Prince Rupert to take up their new home. They were the recipients of many beautiful presents, and the bridegroom's gifts were as follows: To the maid-of-honor, silver mesh bag; to the bridesmaids, pearl brooches; to the best man, pearl cuff links and tie pin; and to the ushers, pearl stick pins.

At the home of the bride's parents, 223 Russell street, a prettily-arranged wedding took place on Friday evening, when Pearl Ethel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mable, and Henry

AT THE THEATRES

PANTAGES THEATRE.

Walter Terry's dashing little music and girl show shares with Joe Knowles, the Nature Man, premier honors at Pantages theatre this week. Walter Terry is a nimble dancer with a funny bone, and his bevy of beauties from the far-off Fiji Islands are graceful dancers and tuneful singers.

Joe Knowles appears in a two-part monologue. In the first he narrates the object, experiences and scientific results of his famous journey in the Oregon wilderness, to demonstrate that man needed no outside aid in order to wrest a living from nature. In the second part he is seen in the costume he wore in his return to civilization and he gives a demonstration of various things he had to learn and practice during his stay.

A singing quartette, a juggling quintette, and Gardner and Revere in a travesty on the rest of the show are other features of a strong programme.

"PEG O' MY HEART."

"Sure it's the most wonderful country in the world, is Ireland," says Peg O' My Heart, in the play of that name to be put on by the Allen Players to-night at the Princess theatre. Peg is very human in that to her the homeland is "God's country." There are few living to whom their homeland is not. But few can speak with the eloquence of little Irish Peg. Eloquence is borrowed from the speeches of her father who is "the finest looking man in the world." Just a "little bundle of quaint sayings and cuteness" is Peg, one moment in a fit of peevish temper the next in a fit of hilarious laughter. Her rebellion against the "training" of Mrs. Chichester (to be played by Mrs. P. R. Allen) is very funny.

It has long been Miss Verna Felton's ambition to play Peg, so that there is little doubt, she will set out to make it her best work yet. Much may be expected of her when one remembers her excellent performance of Margie Schultz in "Kindling" last week.

Peg is not a sad play. It is intended to make one laugh one moment, and feel a twinge of sympathy the next. Some claim for it that it is the sweetest story ever told. Its extraordinary success in both book and story goes far towards justifying the claim. Seats may be reserved by telephone. To-night will be bargain night.

A STRIKING PICTURE.

A specially selected programme is being shown at the Majestic theatre to-day and to-morrow and the feature is worthy of special note. It is entitled "Ye Vengeful Vagabonds" and is a dramatic production of the old Pilgrim days. This picture deserves to be placed in the same category with far more heralded and pretentious photoplays. Its historic value is great. A scene showing the ducking of the village vagabond and a supposed with was well done. At least three or four hundred people were utilized in this huge and impressive production. A couple of first rate comedies are included in the bill as well as some wonderful scenes from the seat of war, in which the brave Belgian troops are shown to great advantage.

"NEVER SAY DIE."

Theatre-goers of this section who have heard and known the name of Nat. C. Goodwin, this continent's foremost comedian, will doubtless welcome the news that he is coming to the Royal Victoria theatre on Thursday, November 5. The great comedian will make his first appearance here in his last season's success "Never Say Die," a farcical comedy in three acts, by Wm. H. Post.

Now thoroughly recovered from the accident of two years ago that nearly cost his life, Mr. Goodwin makes his return in a part filled with opportunities for that vein of nice comedy that has made him famous. Miss Margaret Moreland, one of the beauties of the stage heads a splendid supporting company.

REDEMPTION OF DAVID CORSON.

Thousands of people have seen William Farnum, the noted American artist, who comes in moving pictures to the Variety theatre for the first half of the present week in "The Redemption of David Corson." This wonderful film drama is adapted from the famous book of the same name by Charles Frederick Goss, produced by the Famous Players Film Co. The story of a strong man's struggle with himself provides William Farnum with a role superbly suited to his individuality. He descends into the depths, and after an agonizing period of anguish and remorse, emerges from the shadow of shame and sin, and achieves his regeneration.

"Since the management of this popular theatre" secured the famous players production, they have been playing to capacity houses nightly. The theatre has been redecorated in the interior and presents a very neat and cosy appearance. The music, furnished by a five-piece orchestra under the direction of Prof. Hunt, is of the highest order and fits the picture, just as the music in an opera house fits the stage drama.

Dealing in Futures—Mrs. Foxton—"Last March you promised me a set of Russian sables for this winter." "Mr. Foxton (shades)—"No body expects more than I, say, does that the war has stopped all imports from Russia." Mrs. Foxton—"Wasn't I the wise little woman to pick them out and pay $5 on them the day after you promised?"

"Betty said that if any man kissed her without warning she would scream for her father." "What did you do?" "I warned her."

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person is troubled with catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh indicates a weakened condition of the body; that the secretion of the mucous membranes are quickly affected, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from harmful drugs or opiates. Try it.

Correspondence Between Generals Smuts and Beyers

Rebel's Strange Ideas of Duty and Honor—Smuts Returns Stinging Reply—No Lip-Loyalty Wanted in the Union.

In view of the outbreak in South Africa the following correspondence between General Smuts and the rebel General Beyers will be found to be interesting:

Pretoria, Sept. 15, 1914.
To the Right Hon. General J. C. Smuts, Minister of Defence, Pretoria.

Hon. Sir,—You are aware that during the month of August last I told you and General Botha by word of mouth that I disapproved of sending commandos to German Southwest Africa for the purpose of conquering that territory. I was on the point then of resigning, but hearing that parliament was to be called together I decided to wait, hoping that a way out of the difficulty would be found. To my utmost surprise, however, parliament confirmed the resolution adopted by the government, namely, to conquer German Southwest Africa without any provocation towards the Union from the Germans.

The government must be aware that by far the great majority of the Dutch speaking people of the Union decidedly object to crossing the frontier, and that two conferences of commandants recently held at Pretoria bore eloquent testimony to this. I challenge the government by an appeal to the people, without making use of compulsion, to obtain any other result.

It is but a fact that Great Britain has taken part in this war for the sake of right and justice in order to protect the independence of smaller nations, and to comply with treaties. But the fact that three ministers of the British cabinet have resigned shows that even in England there is a strong minority which could not be convinced of the righteousness of a war with Germany. History teaches us, after all, that whenever it serves her interests, Great Britain is always ready to protect smaller nations; but unhappily history also relates instances in which the sacred rights and independence of smaller nations have been violated, and treaties disregarded by the same country. In proving of this I have but to indicate how the independence of the South African Republic and the Orange Free State was violated, and of what weight the Sand River convention was.

It is said that war is being waged against the "barbarity" of the Germans. We have forgiven, but not forgotten, all the barbarities perpetrated in this our own country during the South African war. With a few exceptions all farms, not to mention many towns, were looted, and we now hear so much.

At this critical moment, it is made known in parliament that our government was granted a loan of seven millions sterling by the British government. This is very significant. Anyone can have his own thoughts about that. In the absence of legitimate grounds for the annexation policy of the government you endeavor to inflame the public by declaring that the government possesses information showing that Germany has decided to should opportunity arise to annex South Africa. My humble opinion is that this will be hastened if, from our side, we invade German territory without being provoked thereby by the Germans. Just as the British government annexed—where, this is not more than the result of the usual national suspicion attending such matters. The allegations made in parliament, namely, that Germans had already violated our frontier are unfounded (see the official report of the information bureau, corroborated by Lieut.-Col. Maritz and his officers, who are on or near the frontier). Apparent transgressions by the Germans of German Southwest Africa, but had been disappointed in this, for so far not a single German soldier has crossed our frontier. As you know very well, the report is perfectly correct regarding an involuntary transgression of the frontier some time ago, and the tendering of an apology for so doing.

Whatever may happen in South Africa, the war will be decided in Europe in any case, so if Germany triumphs and should decide to attack us, then, even if Great Britain should be unable to help us, we shall at least have a sacred and clean cause in defending our country to the utmost possible of our stay into our borders. Meanwhile, in case we are attacked, our people will arise as one man in defence of its rights. Besides, I am convinced that a commando of 1,000 Germans, as at present stationed in German territory, will not be so foolish as to attempt an attack on our country. I have always said—and repeated it at Boersens recently—that if the Union is attacked Boer and British will defend this country side by side, and in such case I will deem it a great honor and privilege to take up my place at the head of our forces in defence of my fatherland.

I accepted the post of commandant general under our Defence Act, the first section of which provides that our forces can only be employed in defence of the Union. My humble opinion is that this section cannot thus be changed by an informal resolution of parliament, such being contrary to parliamentary procedure. So the Defence Act does not allow us to go and fight the enemy over the frontier and to light the fire in that way; but should the enemy penetrate into our country it will be our duty to drive him back and pursue him in his own territory.

In his speech General Botha speaks about the help we had from the Belgians and the French after the South African war. This is still appreciated by me, and by all our people, but we must not forget that the Germans also were not behindhand, and had always been well disposed towards us. So why should we deliberately make enemies of them? As circumstances are, I see no way of taking the offensive, and as I sincerely love my country and people, I must strongly protest against the sending of the Union Citizen Forces over the frontier. Who can foretell where the fire the government has decided to light shall end?

For the reasons enumerated above I feel constrained to resign my position as commandant-general as also my commissioned rank. For me this is the only way of faith, duty, and honor towards my people, of which mention was made by General Botha. I have always tried to do my duty according to my best convictions, and it grieves me that it must end in this way.

I have the honor to be, honorable sir, your obedient servant,
CHRISTIAN FREDERICK BEYERS.

Gen. Smuts's Reply.

Department of Defence, Pretoria,
September 19, 1914.

Sir,—It was with regret that I received your letter of the 15th inst., tendering your resignation as commandant-general of the Union Defence Forces, and as an officer of the union. The circumstances under which your resignation took place, and the terms in which you endeavor to justify your action, tend to leave a very painful impression. It is true that it was known to me that you entertained objections against the war operations in German Southwest Africa, but I never received the impression that you would resign. On the contrary all the information communicated to you, all plans were discussed with you, and your advice was followed to a large extent. The principal officers were appointed on your recommendation and with your concurrence, and the plan of operations, which is now being followed, is largely one recommended by yourself at a conference of officers.

My last instruction to you before I left for Capetown, to attend the special session of parliament, was that in my absence you should visit certain regiments on the German border, and it was well understood between us that immediately after the war operations were somewhat further advanced, and your operation among the various divisions would be practicable, you should yourself undertake the chief command in German Southwest Africa.

The attitude of the government after this remained unchanged and was approved by parliament after full discussion. One would have expected that this approval would make the matter easier for you, but now I find that you anticipated that parliament would disapprove of the policy, and that your disappointment in this became the reason for your unexpected action. In order to make your motives clearer, and reasons for your resignation were explained in a long political argument, which was immediately communicated to the press, and came into the hands of the government long after publication.

I need not tell you that all the circumstances in connection with your resignation have made a most unpleasant impression on my colleagues and myself.

But this unpleasant impression had even been aggravated by the allegation contained in your bitter attack on Great Britain, which is not only entirely baseless, but is the more unjustifiable coming as it does in the midst of a great war from the commandant-general of one of the British dominions. Your reference to barbarous acts during the South African war cannot justify the criminal devastation of Belgium, and can only be calculated to sow hatred and division among the people of South Africa.

You forget to mention that since the South African war the British people have South Africa, her entire freedom under a constitution which makes it possible for us to realize our national ideals along our own lines, and which, for instance, allows you to write with impunity a letter for which you would without doubt be liable in the German empire, to the extreme penalty.

As regards your other statements, they have been answered and disposed of in parliament. From these discussions it will be apparent that neither the British empire nor South Africa was the aggressor in this struggle. War was in the first instance declared by Austria-Hungary, and therefore by Germany, under circumstances in which the British government employed its utmost powers to maintain the peace of Europe and to safeguard the neutrality of Belgium. As far as we ourselves are concerned, our coast is threatened, our mail-boats are arrested, and our borders are invaded by the enemy. This latter incident did not occur, as you say, in an involuntary manner and with an apology, which, at any rate, was never tendered to the government. Under these circumstances it is absurd to speak of aggressive action on the part of the Union, seeing that, together with the British empire, we have been drawn against our wish and will and entirely in self-defence into this war.

As regards your insinuation concerning the loan of £1,000,000 which the British government was kind enough to grant us, and for which the public of the Union, as evidenced recently in parliament, are most grateful, it is of such a despicable nature that there is no necessity to make any comment thereon. It only shows to what extent your mind has been obscured by political bias.

You speak of duty and honor. My conviction is that the people of South Africa will, in these dark days, when the government and as the people of South Africa are put to the supreme test have a clearer conception of duty and honor than is to be deduced from your letter and action. For the Dutch speaking section in particular, I cannot conceive anything more fatal and humiliating than a policy of lip-loyalty in fair weather, and of a policy of neutrality and pro-German sentiment in days of storm and stress. It may be that your peculiar internal circumstances, and our backward condition of South Africa, will place a limit on what we can do, but nevertheless I am convinced that the people will support the government in carrying out the mandate of parliament, and, in this manner—the only legitimate one—fulfill their duty to South Africa, and to the empire, and maintain their dearly won honor unblemished for the future.

Your resignation is hereby accepted. I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,
J. C. SMUTS.

Minister for Defence.
To the Hon. General C. F. Beyers, Pretoria.

AMERICAN WAR TAXES

Some of Those Imposed Across the Line Fall on Canadian Travelers and Consumers.

The war revenue taxes authorized by the United States congress as a means of making up the deficiency in the revenue caused by the falling off of imports through the war are beginning to go into effect, and there is a likelihood that some of them will fall directly upon Canadians. Just as there is no doubt that the Canadian consumers of American goods will pay the tax indirectly in the cases where manufacturers are taxed.

Some of the new taxes went into effect yesterday. Banks and bankers, except savings banks, pay $1 on every $1,000 of capital, surplus or undivided profits employed in the business. Brokers pay $30, pawnbrokers $50, some mercantile brokers $20, custom house brokers $10 and commission merchants $20. Proprietors of places of amusement are taxed $25 on a seating capacity of not more than 250, $50 up to 500, $75 up to 800 and $100 where the seating capacity is more than 800. Circuses pay $100, other exhibitions or shows $10, bowling alleys and billiard tables $5 for each alley or table, Chautauques, agricultural and industrial fairs and exhibitions under religious or charitable auspices are exempt.

Tobacco dealers selling 50,000 pounds annually will have to pay $6, doubled where they sell twice that amount, and quadrupled where the sales total over 100,000 pounds annually. Dealers doing a business of $200 a year pay $4.80 for each shop. Manufacturers of tobacco pay a tax graduated from $6, where the output is 50,000 pounds yearly, to $1,200 where it is 20,000,000 pounds and $2,400 where it is over the latter figure. Makers of cigars pay on a scale ranging from $3 for 100,000 cigars to $2,496 where they make over 40,000,000 cigars a year. Cigarette manufacturers pay at the rate $12 a million up to 100,000,000 and $2,496 where the output is over that mark.

There is a series of stamp taxes which goes into effect on December 1. One tax which will hit travelers from across the line to Canada is that on "passenger tickets by sea to a foreign port," which is $1 where the fare is less than $10, $2 on fares up to $60, and $5 on fares over $60. Telegraph and telephone companies pay one cent on every message over 15 cents, to be collected from the person paying for it. The sender pays the same amount, and presumably if the message is prepaid the sender has to pay the double tax. One cent is taxed on every palace car or parlor car seat, to be collected by the United States government from the companies. The same tax is placed on every bundle sent by freight or express. There is a stamp tax on chewing gum, tooth washes, hair dyes, vaseline, perfumery, cosmetics, based on each five cents of value. Stamps have to be affixed to bonds, debentures, certificates, agreements for the sale of stock or goods, promissory notes, voting proxies, realty deeds, powers of attorney, custom house entries, policies of insurance and all certificates required by law. There are also taxes in force for the last ten days, on ales, wines and spirits.

RIGHT, OF COURSE.

To the Editor:—I presume that, owing to the arrival in London of Sir Richard McBride, Lords Haldane and Reading and Mr. Lloyd George were enabled to leave England on an important mission. Kindly correct me if I am wrong.
OLD-TIME CONSERVATIVE.
Victoria, B. C., Oct. 31, 1914.

A WORKER'S VIEW.

To the Editor:—I was glad to see the letter in today's paper signed "Common Sense" upon the question of the right way for the city to handle employment during these war times when everyone under the Union Jack must bear his share of the burden. The men at the front, from duke to beggar boy, are doing it, and the empire is proud of them. All of us can do our work, and "the greatest good for the greatest number" is what is wanted. It would be far better, as "Common Sense" points out, to have 40 men working at $1.50 per day as against 20 at $3. The taxpayers can't stand it. No class is more up against it today than they are. The city council need have no fear of a few noisy persons who claim to speak for labor. Most of them are men who are living with their mouths and do not want to work themselves. All men who are born under the Union Jack know what we are up against and are ready to do our part. Let those who are not get out and stop talking about business which is not their concern in this national crisis. I have been a union man myself and know that the men who profess to speak for labor seldom represent the vast majority of good labor people.

"HARD WORKER."

WINTER CLOTHING FOR THE FLEET.

The following letter from Lady Jellicoe appeared in the London Times on Monday, October 26:

There is a very prevalent idea about the navy having enough winter comforts. I beg to state that is not the case. Only yesterday my husband wrote: "Although the admiralty are providing extra warm things for the fleet, it would be nearly enough, and every helmet, glove or stocking that you can get will be most welcome." Sir John also writes what the men badly want are seaboots and oilskins.

I suggest that all comforts, such as mufflers, jerseys, gloves, etc., be sent to the Navy League, 47 Grosvenor Square, or to the needwork committee of the Primrose League, 61 Victoria street, S.W., who will gladly forward them immediately to his majesty's ships as they come in, and I will gladly receive subscriptions at 25 Sussex square, W., to buy the much-needed seaboots and oilskins and forward them immediately to the fleet.

(Signed) GWYNDOLE JELICOE.
25 Sussex square, Hyde Park, W., Oct. 10.

Mr. Justice Hodgins, 9 Dale avenue, Toronto, will, if necessary, undertake to forward anything which may be sent in for the purpose mentioned in Lady Jellicoe's letter.

PRO-GERMAN POSTMASTER.

To the Editor:—Herewith find enclosed copy of two letters which I wish you to please insert in your paper. This is a matter of national importance and not trifling. I am a Canadian citizen, and a nationalized foreigner should be prevented in the future. Why Leonard Frank should be appointed photographer for the provincial government is past our understanding. We have other Canadian citizens in the district, and I am sure that they will not allow their children to sing "God Save the King" and other national British songs. One cannot blame these people for sticking to their actual beliefs, but it is a pity that some of the local Conservative executive and the government in giving such appointments to men imbued with the strongest British antipathy and German sentiment. The daily conversation of these men or their actions on reading a bulletin showing a German defeat or temporary success clearly proves what they are.

I am simply one of a numerous party not objecting to Frank's appointment through lack of ability, but from the fact that he is a foreigner born, and there are thousands of Britishers for such positions. When Mr. Clements or some other representative next appeals to the electorate in this district he will naturally look to the German element for his votes and not to the British Conservatives.

As the premier is the hon. president of the local Conservative executive I trust that he will not have a reference of such an outrageous appointment, and if there is no Conservative fit for the work put in a Liberal, as long as he is British born and bred, but first give the native son a chance, unless postmasters must be "made" German.

I am an old man and have no ends or aims to seek from either political party, but this is a matter that wants bringing before the intelligent electorate of British Columbia.

JAMES CLARK.
Port Alberni, B. C., Oct. 30, 1914.

Hon. Louis P. Pelletier, Postmaster-General, Ottawa, Ont.

Sir:—As an early pioneer in this district, before Alberni or Port Alberni were practically known, I wish to draw your attention to a ludicrous position in the post office department at Alberni.

The old postmistress was dispensed with and a German named Bernard Frank, a German trained soldier, a pro-Boer of the worst type, filled the post. I like many other Conservatives, think it an insult and injustice to citizens of Canada. Are there no native born sons of British Columbia to fill the post?

Are there no true Canadian-born men to fill the post?

Are there no Imperialists to fill the post? It seems not, when a Canadian-washed German, an enemy of the nation, must be plucked into such a prominent position and hold it at this critical time. His brother Leonard, even a worse pro-Boer, has photographed every important position on the coast, including Danfield cable station, lighthouses, etc., for government, railway, companies' advertisement.

ments, etc., and the negatives may be used for other purposes just now. I understand both of the Franks are under the strongest surveillance; and, along with others, I consider this a most important matter for your investigation. Trusting this business will have your early attention.

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) JAMES CLARK.
Port Alberni, B. C., August 24, 1914.

Dear Sir:—I have your letter of the 24th ultimo, in regard to the postmasterhip of Alberni. I have glanced over the official file and I find that Bernard Frank was appointed to the postmasterhip on the recommendation of Mr. Clements a pretty long time ago, and I am referring the matter to him immediately.

Yours truly,
(Signed) LOUIS P. PELLETIER.

A GERMAN'S SENTIMENTS.

To the Editor:—Perhaps you will be kind enough to give a "genuine" German a chance to tell the people of Victoria his opinion of this war, his opinion of the said people of Victoria, and his opinion of this beautiful city of Victoria itself? If I said a "genuine" German, I meant a German who is not a German-in-the-idea, but who has lived there since the middle of July, having left Liverpool on June 27 for Montreal. By the time I left my native city on June 27 I did not see any signs of mobilization, but I am quite sure that this whole war business had been well prepared long before the declaration of war. When in the first days of August it became known that Germany had occupied Belgium, or that Germany had occupied Belgium, or when all the vandalism again and again was printed in the papers, giving full names of highly honorable and trustworthy witnesses, I began to feel ashamed of being a German. Often I was asked: "Do you, as a German, believe in all these brutalities, as cutting off children's hands and even worse things than that?" It is really hard to answer such a question, and still I must say: "Yes, I believe it; I believe it because those reports have come too often and the persons who have given them are too honorable to give any reason for doubt."

All your readers know what acts of brutality and destruction the Germans have done, not in actual warfare, but like robbers without any knowledge of civilization whatever.

And nevertheless I say: It is not the people who have started this disgraceful war, it is not the people who are responsible for all this barbarism. No, but it is this confounded militarism which is responsible for all. But I could not tell you anything new, because you, as well as your readers, know exactly what this Germany is. I myself have been a soldier in the German army and ought to have gone back to take part in this disgraceful war. Can anyone blame me for not doing so? And yet I have heard people say that one ought to be patriotic enough to stick to his country or change his nationality. That is just what I am going to do. I have not been a Socialist, but a true, patriotic soldier; but every bit of patriotism is gone, and as soon as I am allowed to do so I shall change my nationality to become as good a Canadian citizen as I have hitherto been one of the "fatherland."

And now a few words concerning the people of Victoria. I am one of the German unemployed, and the endeavor to find a situation have had many a consultation with business men of this city, and even with the authorities. I have been twice at the detective office on Comorant street, to report, but everywhere I have been received with the same courtesy and kindness. I can assure you that even for a German citizen it is a very dreadful thing to have anything to do with the German authorities, no matter what the reason may be, and a walk to a German police or detective office is about the worst thing one can do, because the German police are unique in roughness. How different it is here. I pity the Britishers in German cities that have anything to do with the police. Militarism! I am doubtful whether all Germans in this city stand on the side of the allies, but I do, and I think any person that has a heart at all must do so. As soon as this disgraceful war is over and letters may be sent to the old country again, I shall not fail to give my former fellow-citizens as my native town, through the columns of German news papers, my opinion and try to convince them that there is quite a difference between the German and the British nation.

Taken all in all, Victoria is a city as beautiful as any may be found and inhabited by a class of people the city may be proud of. My heart bleeds to think that perhaps one or the other of our brave Victoria boys may fall by the hands of any former comrades, but I hope that they will all come back as well and strong as they have left, but that they may be covered with laurels.

Now let me thank you for your kindness in publishing this letter, which may perhaps not have full approbation amongst the Germans of this city, but my brotherly love goes over patriotism to a country that does not deserve it.

The Marquis of Ormonde, the commander of the Royal Yacht Squadron, is Hereditary Chief Butler of Ireland. One of his predecessors had a tutor whose name was Joseph. The pupil promised that when he succeeded to the title he would give the tutor, who was in holy orders, a living. In due course the pupil succeeded, but time passed and Joseph did not see a living coming his way. It happened, however, that he was asked to preach in Kilkenny cathedral, and he saw Lord Ormonde among the congregation. Discarding the sermon he had prepared, he looked straight at the marquis, and gave out the text: "Yet did not the chief Butler remember Joseph, but forget him." He got the living.

JESSIE BATTERED BY BAD GALES ON BANKS

Schooner Launched Doilies Five Times in Three Weeks; Catch Very Small

It was a disgusted lot of fisherman who returned this morning on the schooner Jessie, Capt. George Heater, from a three weeks' cruise to the Heate Strait banks. Only on five occasions were the doilies dropped over the ship's side and then the fisherman hardly had their gear set when it came on to blow hard and they had to row back to the Jessie. The result of the continuous bad weather was a very small catch of fish, one of the smallest ever brought in by the schooner.

Capt. Heater, in speaking of the trip, said that it was not until the twelfth day after leaving Victoria that the fishermen were able to launch the doilies. Southeast winds, which at times blew with the velocity of a hurricane, buffeted the ship continuously and at times the gigantic seas broke over the staunch schooner. It rained incessantly. Capt. Heater sets the trip down as one of the worst he has ever experienced.

BURNED LINER PRESENTS MISERABLE APPEARANCE

Portland, Nov. 2.—A wreck of her former self, the steamer Santa Catalina, badly damaged by fire in the lower Columbia river recently while completing the last stretch of her passage from New York, is now in port. She was the main attraction in the harbor during the week-end, a large number of marine men going down to look her over. Longshoremen are now discharging her cargo. When the boat entered the harbor the cargo comprised 2,000 tons, but a considerable portion of the general merchandise either was destroyed or partly damaged. Another part, however, sustained no particular damage, as it consisted of steel and iron products. The cargo in No. 1 hold, it is believed, escaped injury of any consequence. But the loss to both the vessel and her cargo will not be ascertained until a thorough survey has been completed, which will be toward the last of this week.

A great quantity of rubbish taken from her while she was aground near Columbia City arrived on a barge, which is lying alongside the disabled craft. The remainder of the debris in the hold will be taken out as quickly as possible.

WAKENA BOUGHT FOR SERVICE TO VICTORIA

Will Assist Fulton and Despatch in Handling Border Line Business

Owing to the tremendous increase in the freight business between British Columbia and Puget Sound ports, the Border Line Transportation company has found it necessary to purchase another vessel. H. B. Davenport, local agent of Dowdell & Co., which firm manages the Border Line, was advised this morning of the acquiring of the twin-screw gasoline power barge Wakena from the Clatskanie Transportation company for a reported price of $24,000. This unique craft will operate in conjunction with the steamer Fulton and Despatch, between Seattle, Tacoma, Victoria, Vancouver, Powell River, Anacortes and Bellingham.

The Wakena is classed as a barge owing to her shallow draft. She draws only five feet of water when fully loaded with 350 tons of cargo. She is, however, capable of steaming nine knots an hour. The Wakena is an innovation in the British Columbia sea transportation. The real reason for her purchase by the Border Line was to enable the company to secure trade from the country around Anacortes.

The Wakena is of shallow draft and can navigate in waters in which the Despatch and Fulton cannot.

Expected to-morrow.

It is expected that the Wakena will arrive here to-morrow on her first visit. She has been hauled out on the Seattle

Luzon Maru Docked Yesterday From Kobe; Will Maintain Monthly Service

The first of the auxiliary steamships being placed in the trans-Pacific service by the Osaka Shosen Kaisha to relieve its regular passenger liners of some of the freight offerings arrived at the outer docks yesterday morning. The Luzon Maru, Capt. T. Miyata, came into port after an 18-day trip from Yokohama and discharged 225 tons of general merchandise. She left here early in the afternoon for Seattle and Vancouver.

Officers on the Luzon Maru said that the Osaka line will maintain a monthly service with the Luzon Maru and the Java Maru. Neither ship will call at any Chinese ports, the run being between Kobe and Yokohama and Victoria, Seattle, Tacoma and Vancouver. The Java Maru is scheduled to leave Yokohama on November 15 and will arrive here at the end of this month. The Luzon Maru will be ready to put to sea from the Sound in two weeks. Her officers expect to be back on their second trip about the end of December.

Freight Offerings Heavy.

Since the withdrawal of all the C. P. R. trans-Pacific liners, the Japanese and Blue Funnel steamship companies have experienced a hard time in caring for all the shipments which have offered on both sides of the Pacific. The Osaka officials found that their regular

HUMBOLDT ASKS SALVAGE

Vancouver, Nov. 2.—The rescue by the Alaska Navigation company's steamer Humboldt of the tug, Escort No. 2 and her crew of 12 men a year ago, when the tug was drifting helplessly within half a mile of a dangerous reef near Milne Bay, has given rise to a salvage claim in the Admiralty court. The owners, master and crew of the Humboldt claim salvage of the tug, which at the time of the accident was under charter to the Grand Trunk Pacific railway.

Evidence of valuation was taken by Mr. Justice Martin on Friday. The tug was valued by witnesses at $12,000 and the Humboldt at $160,000. Her cargo was valued at $200,000. C. B. Macneil, K. C., for the plaintiffs, urged that under the legal cases, where a valuable vessel with fifty passengers on board is rescued from a hazardous circumstance for the purpose of saving human life, salvage to the value of one-half the value of the rescued vessel was allowed.

A. Alexander, for the charterers of the tug, argued for a minimum of the salvage award. His lordship reserved his judgment.

WORLD'S LARGEST LINER TO BE SACRIFICED FOR $20,000

S. S. VATERLAND.

London, Nov. 2.—News that the great Hamburg-American line steamship Vaterland has been attached in New York for an unpaid balance of less than $4,000 ($29,000), due Messrs. Waring & Gillow, of London, for decorative furnishings and fixtures, has caused a sensation here.

It is believed the steamship will come under the British flag, either as an armed merchant vessel or as the newest acquisition of the White Star or Cunard line. The order of the American court is interpreted to mean that the vessel will be sold to the highest bidder. British shipping interests, backed by the British control of the seas, will be in a position to outbid any competitors.

The sacrifice of the great steamship by Germany is looked upon as an admission that the German is closed to German shipping until after the war and that the price of the Vaterland in cash is of more value than any other consideration.

If Waring & Gillow sell the vessel in the United States they will be entitled to take from the selling price only the amount due them and must then turn the huge balance over to the Hamburg-American line. The Vaterland cost $1,725,000 and there is no doubt she would bring close to that figure.

If Great Britain permits the Vaterland to be sold without protest, it is, of course, possible that her protests could scarcely be maintained regarding other German vessels. If Great Britain protests against a forced sale of the Vaterland the unique opportunity of acquiring the largest steamship in the world will be gone.

It is explained that, strictly speaking, Great Britain forbids by law the payment of money by Waring & Gillow to an alien enemy. So if the Vaterland is sold at auction by Waring & Gillow the law technically prevents them from turning the balance of more than $1,000,000 over to the Hamburg-American line.

This and other points can, of course, be regulated by the British foreign office, and if the time comes when the British government finds it of more interest to have the Vaterland than to let Germany have the cash, there would be doubtless a wholesale elimination of red tape.

New York, Nov. 2.—Action taken in admiralty here against the Vaterland represents a claim of less than $20,000, and is the second time the vessel has been labelled since she was interned here. The first case was based on supplies delivered in a British port early in the summer and involved only $1,845.72.

It is understood that the latest claim cannot be disputed, and that an order of sale will issue as a matter of form if the Hamburg-American company, which owns the Vaterland, cannot obtain a suspension of the German law under which it is forbidden to pay money owed to an alien enemy. It is understood that this law, and not the merits of the claim, stands in the way of settlement.

CAUGHT IN BAD WEATHER.

Seattle, Nov. 2.—Completing an eventful voyage to Sand Point, the westernmost tip of Puget Island of the Shumagin group, the American schooner Harold, Bleekum, Captain Walter Tinn, reached Seattle Saturday. The vessel left the Shumagin group, October 5 and for the first three days encountered a heavy southerly wind, which developed into a roaring southwester. For six days the little vessel was holed to in the storm, with terrific seas sweeping her decks. Three sails were carried away in the gale, one jib and two foresails, and the masts were damaged.

During the storm the water was six inches deep in the cabin, and it required constant bailing by members of the crew.

The small portion of ships' stores left after the storm had spent its force, were spoiled and for three days the members of the crew and three passengers of the schooner were compelled to live on codfish and salmon, with no bread or coffee.

PRINCESS ENA RETURNS TO LIE UP FOR WINTER

After having been operating in the freight service out of Vancouver to Skagway and northern British Columbia ports during the summer, the C. P. R. steamer Princess Ena arrived in port last night and will be laid up for the winter.

GOVERNOR IN PORT

At 2.30 o'clock this afternoon the Pacific Coast steamship Governor, Capt. Thomas, arrived in port from San Diego, San Pedro and San Francisco. She encountered considerable heavy weather during the trip up the coast. For this port she had 10 passengers and 92 tons of cargo.

A bowler connected with a prominent cricket club liked to get as far over the crease as possible, and if he was not balled used to set a little trap for umpires. After being no-balled he would step at least six inches over the mark and go through all the motions of bowling without letting the ball leave his hand, and then of course he would get a good laugh when the umpire cried "No ball!" He tried the trick on an old umpire who had found fault with him. He went over the crease as usual, swung his arm, but did not let go of the ball, and then, in excuse for his behavior, said to the umpire, "My foot slipped." The next ball was bowled from well behind the crease, but to the astonishment of the bowler, the umpire shouted "No ball!" "Why," said the astonished bowler, "what do you mean?" "I bowled a foot behind the crease!" "Yes, I know you did," the old sportsman added calmly, "but my tongue slipped!"

WESTS' WIN MAY BE THROWN OUT MATCH WAS CALLED BEFORE TIME

League Will Be Asked to Have Game Re-Played; Players May Be Suspended for Fighting; Saturday's Complete Results

Because the time-keepers did not allow the Wests and Thistles to play out the full time at Beacon Hill on Saturday afternoon, there is a chance that the teams will be ordered at Wednesday night's meeting of the Victoria Football association to replay this fixture. It is said that Referee Allan was aware that three minutes remained to be played, and the Wests are likely to fight the application that will be made to have the game replayed. Cyril Baker, outside left of the Wests, and Goal-keeper Rodgers, of the Thistles, will walk the carpet for a mix-up in Saturday's game at Beacon Hill, and both are liable to draw a week's suspension.

SEATTLE IS NOT WANTED BY LEAGUE

Peace Talk in the Air; Maranville Takes to Vaudeville Stage

Portland, Nov. 2.—Seattle is not wanted by the Pacific Coast league for next year. So declared W. W. McCredie on his return from the annual session of the Pacific Coast circuit at San Francisco, thus putting the kibosh on newspaper dispatches from the south.

"We recognize that Seattle belongs to the Northwestern league," said the Portland owner. "A committee has the question concerning the sixth city in hand, and we will decide at another meeting on February 17. It will be Sacramento or San Diego, or perhaps Salt Lake."

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Peace between organized baseball and the Federal league was discussed informally here by August Herrmann, chairman of the National Commission, and Charles Weegman, president of the Chicago Federals. Mr. Weegman admitted the baseball war was the subject considered, but said the discussion was so preliminary there was nothing definite for the public.

Los Angeles, Nov. 2.—"Never again will I take an active part in baseball," the Federal league made good. What's more, the outlaws will continue to make good. There are no quitters among the Federal owners. They have had the organized baseball forces on the run all summer. I was on the inside and I know.

"And the Players' Fraternity has caused the standpat magnates no end of worry."

With these few pointed statements Frank Chance "explained things" to his friends. The "Fearless Leader" is strong for the simple life and states positively that his address for all time to come will be his Glendora ranch house.

Boston, Nov. 2.—Walter J. Maranville, the little shortstop of the champion Braves, is doing a vaudeville turn at Keith's.

"The Rabbit" is assisted by Eddie McCue, well known locally as a raconteur and a singer of songs. Maranville wears his baseball uniform.

WASHINGTON'S FIVE- YEAR MARK SMASHED

For the first time since 1908—the year Gilmour Dobie came to Washington to coach football—Washington yesterday failed to win its game. In 1908 Washington and Pullman battled to a 6-6 tie. Ever after that until yesterday Washington has walked off with the long end of the score against every team in the Northwest conference.

WHITE TO FIGHT.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—There is no chance for the scheduled White-Welsh fight in Milwaukee; November 9, to fall through, that is, from the White point of view, for the local man has tossed caution to the winds. White has given out the following statement:

"I fight Freddie Welsh under any conditions he names. The original articles called for 135 pounds at 5 o'clock. Welsh raised this to 8 o'clock. Last week he went further, and asked to weigh in at 135 pounds at 2 o'clock. I am through with disputes. I'm going to fight him under any conditions, be it 135 pounds at 1, 2 or 3 o'clock, or catch weights."

James Bays are looming up stronger every day as the team that will carry off the honors in the Barnard Cup series this season. A committee of fifteen won on Saturday from the strong Willows Camp aggregation in a hard-fought game, the score being 8 to 6. In an equally stubborn clash, the Fusiliers noosed out the Victoria Welsh team, with a similar score the finals being 8 to 6. Both matches were evenly-contested for every minute of the play, the Bays now leading the league with two wins, while the Willows and Fusiliers have each won and lost a game. University School have a clear lead in the intermediate division, with the McGill fifteen running a strong second.

A superb battle between the opposing forwards was witnessed at the Willows Saturday, when the Bays drew the redoubtable Willows aggregation. The slippery ground and severe handling of the ball made it impossible for the backs to manoeuvre with any degree of certainty, so that it was upon the forwards that the brunt of the struggle fell. The Soldiers fielded a very heavy pack, but the Bays had the youth and staying power to offset any superiority, in weight, with the result that the winners had an edge in the scrum. The play was strenuous throughout, and referee D. A. Davies had his hands full.

Long runs for tries by Meredith, of the Willows, and Cyril Sedger, of the Bays, enlivened the match. Capt. Gillespie and Grant were the other point earners. The Fusiliers had a chance to tie up the score near the last when Meredith sprinted half the length of the field, but the attempt failed, the try failed, the ball being carried over the goal line almost into touch. Sedger's broken nose was the chief casualty, though the tackling was stiff all the way through. The teams:

James Bays—Fullbacks, Macdonald; three-quarters, Vincent, Grant, Schneider, Brain; half-backs, Newcombe and Chalk; forwards, Sedger, Syme, Sanson, McLaughlin, Travis, Macdonald, McNelis and Ross.

Willows Camp—Fullbacks, Corp. Fawcett; three-quarters, Corp. Meredith, Capt. Gillespie, Lieut. Townsend, Pte. Gillespie and Pte. Hines; half-backs, Pte. Tuson and Corp. Stewart; forwards, Corp. Heinekey, Lieut. Wise, Pte. D. E. Scott, Pte. G. W. Scott, Driver Stover, Pte. Ward and Pte. Pemberton.

Speed on the three-quarter line and their superior handling of the leather won for the Fusiliers over the Victoria Welsh Fifteen at Oak Bay. The soldiers got away to a splendid start, and they managed to retain their lead until the close. Serg. Port and Lieut. Morton scored the Fusiliers' tries, Gallie converting the final one. Sedger and Worsford, of the Fusiliers, had to retire because of injuries, the teams being:

88th Fusiliers—Corp. Gallie; Lieut. Carew Martin, Pte. Palmer, Pte. Rogers, Pte. Worsford; Pte. Shires, Lieut. Morton; Lieut. Carstairs, Pte. Patterson, Pte. Yeoman, Sergt. Port, Pte. Knowles, Pte. Stafford, Pte. Armstrong, Pte. Pottinger.

Welsh—Pappid; N. James, S. James, Goldworthy and Honeychurch, L. A. Thomas and S. Hendra; Adams, A. Griffiths, Bangerter, Boyd, R. Stevens, Lewis, Simpson and Moody.

Referee, Mr. Scott.

Willows Camp shut out the Fusiliers in the intermediate rugby fixture, the final being 11 to 0. McGill defeated the High School club 6 to 3 and went into second place, but two points behind the leaders.

AL DAVIES CANNOT BOX AT VANCOUVER

Al Davies, the local panama-weight boxer, will not compete at the inter-city boxing tournament to be held in Vancouver Tuesday night. Davies on Monday last secured employment with the Sir John Jackson Co. at Albert Head, and so cannot make the trip to Vancouver. Billy Davies, brother of Al, of the Vancouver Commercial Club that Al could not make the trip, and it is probable that the Terminal officials will substitute Earl Baird, of Seattle.

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—That Harry Willie will not be prepared to box Sam Langford before Jimmy Coffey's club on Friday night, November 13, was the announcement made last night by Ed. Barnes, who is looking after the interests of the New Orleans negro.

"What had become of my meerschaum pipe?" inquired an inveterate smoker. "Well, my dear," his wife replied, "it was getting awfully discolored, so I gave it a coat of white enamel, and it is not quite dry yet."

PRESENTATION TO RETIRING OFFICIAL

P. R. Pomfret Honored at Y. M. C. A. Swimming Gala; McKinnon Provides Surprise

Perhaps the feature of Saturday's swimming gala at the Y. M. C. A. was the presentation of the illustrated address to P. R. Pomfret, founder of the chief centre of the British Columbia Royal Life-Saving Society at Victoria.

The address was presented by Mayor Stewart, who in a few words told of the services that Mr. Pomfret had rendered for life-saving in the capital. The address was the work of a local artist and was a magnificent piece of engraving, being signed by His Honor, Lieutenant-Governor Patterson, as president, and Sir Richard McBride, as vice-president, also Mayor Stewart and members of the affiliated branches. The recipient will leave Victoria the end of this month or the first week in December for South Africa, where he will in future reside. The sum of $40 was realized at the gala for the patriotic fund.

Angus McKinnon's defeat of Lou Godfrey in the 50-yard dash was the surprise of the evening, the former winning by a touch from the Victoria crack. McKinnon also won the association race, and the Victoria Amateur Swimming association relay team carried off the honors in the team event. The complete results were:

LEVINSKY WINS.

New York, Nov. 2.—Battling Levinsky, of this city, had the better of Terry Keller, of California, in a 10-round bout here Saturday night. Levinsky weighed 173½, Keller 181½. Last night Levinsky whipped "Sailor" Fritts.

An old Scotch worthy was in the habit of calling each evening at the village inn for a "rop o' the best." When he had gone one night the landlord discovered, to his horror, that he had supplied Donald out of the bottle of sulphuric acid which he had been using for cleaning the taps. Every moment he expected to hear of Donald's death, and his relief was great when the old worthy arrived next evening. "Donald, what did you think of the whisky ye got last night?" "It was a fine dram, a guid warmin' dram, but it had aye fa't' every time I coughed it set fire to me whiskers."

George Kreitlein, an Indianapolis business man, is self-made and successful. His gun club decided to hold an open trap shoot, and it was announced that all entries must be in before six o'clock Wednesday evening. About eight o'clock in the evening the club's telephone bell rang, and a voice on the other end of the phone said: "I desire to speak to the head of the shoot committee." Kreitlein happened to be near and he answered the phone. "The head of the shoot committee is speaking," said he. "What can I do for you?" "This is John Astorbill Jones—Yale '98," said the voice. "Yes," "I'd like to enter your tournament," said the voice. "Sorry," said Kreitlein. "Sorry—list—closed—at six o'clock." "But," said the voice, "I'm sure you'll make an exception in my case." "Can't be done." "Can't be done," repeated the voice. "I don't think you quite understand who I am." "I'm John Astorbill Jones—Yale '98." "And this," was the reply, "is George Kreitlein—night school, '97—and I say it can't be done."

LALONDE WILL BE SOLD TO CANADIENS

Sibby Nichols May Return from Orient; Victoria Club Will Practice To-morrow

That Newby Lalonde will be sold to the Canadiens is the story that comes from the Vancouver hockey club. The Terminiels offered to trade the famous French Canadian for Vezina, but Geo. Kennedy could not see his way clear to make the deal, and as Lalonde is anxious to remain in the east, he may be sold to Canadiens.

Sibby Nichols, who has written from the Orient that he may be able to secure his release from the Empress of Russia in time to join the Terminiels, while the club has also signed McKay, who played in the Boundary league last year. Victoria's pro squad will likely start practice tomorrow afternoon at the Arena, the locals having most of their players here already.

Whether or not the Y. M. C. A. hockey club, champions of the Victoria City Hockey league, will play off for the Coy cup this year will be decided at a meeting of the title-holders tonight in the Association hall. The club will select officers for the year and it is practically certain that Ken Heiniger will be appointed manager once more in view of his very effective handling of the team in past seasons.

The City league, left the matter of playing off for the trophy in the hands of the Y. M. C. A. management.

Four clubs are assured for this season's schedule and the list of games will be announced after the league has made arrangements with the Arena management for the ice. The Y. M. C. A., Bankers and Law Students have entered for this season, while either the Catholic Athletic association or the Civic Service A. A., will furnish the fourth club. It was announced at the meeting that the schedule will consist this season of double headers, with possibly a Commercial league match to fill out the evenings at the Arena, an amateur hockey night each week being booked this season.

John Mowatt was re-elected to the presidency of the City league, the complete list being as follows: Hon. president, W. H. Coy (re-elected); hon. vice-presidents, Mayor Stewart and Lester Patrick; president, John Mowatt (re-elected); first vice-president, Percy Richardson; second vice-president, W. H. Wilkerson; secretary, J. P. Watson (re-elected); assistant secretary, K. G. Hignar.

Manager Lester Patrick announces following schedule of hours at the rink this season: Skating, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings, also Saturday morning; hockey,

PROPOSE TO AMEND

THE REVENUE BY-LAW

City Council Will Consider Availability of Extending Rebate Period for Taxes

On account of the percentage of the taxes paid during the rebate period ending last Saturday being smaller than was hoped for, it will be proposed at the city council meeting this evening that the revenue by-law be amended to extend the rebate period until November 30.

There is no precedent for this action in the history of Victoria, and the fact that it has been proposed does not meet with the approval of some of the large ratepayers who forward their taxes in time. One owner first thing this morning notified the treasurer's department that his cheque for $2,500, sent in during the rebate period, would be held up. The council notice was not posted till a few minutes before 5 p.m. on Saturday, the delay being made so that as many as possible should be encouraged to pay. It is impossible, of course, for the treasurer's department to state for how long the rebate will last, but it is expected that the amount of taxes received so far amounts to, but it is expected that the figure will show a falling off from those of past years, hence the necessity for the amendment to the revenue by-law.

There are precedents in other cities and municipalities, one case in point being the neighboring municipality of Saanich, which added an extra month this year to the period of rebate. The chairman of the city finance committee is advised by the city solicitor that it would be illegal to extend the date till December 31, as has been suggested in other quarters. After that date interest is collectable at law.

Several aldermen stated this morning that the proposal to extend the rebate period will receive the council's approval, as it is the only way of meeting the situation. It will be the most important item of business before the city council at its session this evening. A letter will be received this evening from the Unemployed League committee asking for the attendance of the mayor and the members of the council at the meeting to be held to-morrow for the discussion of unemployment, and asking the council to indicate its views as to the best method of dealing with unemployment. No action has yet been taken on the suggestion to extend the scope of the city labor bureau to embrace registration for all industries.

City Engineer Rust and Manager A. T. Goward, on behalf of the B. C. Electric Railway company, owners of the Victoria Gas company franchise, have taken up the question of having the dredge Mudlak dredge out a channel in Rock Bay while the drawspan in the old trestle has been removed for repairs. Mr. Rust was asked on Saturday by owners of property to move in this regard. The city is more interested in having a channel made to its Garbally road yards in the creek. The matter is promised attention by the Public Works department.

Registration of householders and license holders show a considerable falling off from the figures of last year, only 905 being registered till closing time on Saturday, as against 1,696 in 1913. The assessor's department gives a threefold reason for this: The absence of outside workers securing registrations as in past years; the number of young men at the front; and the inability of some to pay rates and licenses, which is a necessary preliminary to registration.

Agreement-holders and owners of property since the assessment roll was made up early in the year have till November 30 to make the necessary declarations at the city hall upon payment of taxes on property mentioned in the declarations.

MANY WOUNDED IN LEGS

Visitor From London Comments on Large Proportion of British Soldiers Only Slightly Injured.

The extraordinary number of British soldiers who return from the war wounded in the legs was commented upon to-day by L. D. Turham, a London visitor to the city, who visited all the hospitals where the maimed fighting men of Britain are interned. He adds that many of London's largest and most famous hospitals have been taken over by the military, and no civilian patients are allowed inside, while in all the other medical homes, a large proportion of the beds are reserved for the brave fellows who have received wounds in the fighting in northern France and Belgium.

In discussing the phenomenon mentioned at the outset, Mr. Turham said he believed the reason for it was that much of the work of the infantry was done in shallow trenches which were hurriedly thrown up as the lines advanced from position to position. Lying in these trenches the body and head were naturally in a perpendicular position, while the legs were exposed horizontally to the bullets from the shrapnel bursting overhead. It was remarkable to see what a large percentage of the wounded had been hurt in this manner. One happy result of this, however, was that only a small minority had serious or mortal wounds, and the recovery was in the main proportionately rapid.

Another thing noticeable about the men was that they were all extremely anxious to get back to the great work. Their anxiety to get well was not a selfish one, in any case, and was only born of an intense desire to get another blow in at the Kaiser's army. Many of the men invalided home in the early stages of the campaign had returned simply because they could not be held back.

"Do you think the doctor is going to put him through?" "I don't know, I am getting afraid that he is pushing him along."

The mails from home had just been received by a certain regiment. Not only were there letters but many parcels from relatives and friends at home for lucky soldiers. One of the Tommies received a large box addressed to himself, and with a triumphant yell he rushed off to his company's lines and gathered 'round him to share in the contents of his box. "Smoked, lads!" he cried, as he unfolded the wrapper. From the old man, I know it. An' there's sure to be a bottle or two of Scotch. He opened the box, gave one look at the contents, and collapsed in a heap. "What is it?" cried his comrades, parading round. "It's from ole Auntie Mary," groaned the disappointed warrior. "Bandages an' ointment, an' embrocation, an' splints, an' a book on 'Ow to be yer own surgeon!'"

-in Spite of the Turkish War-

We have succeeded in bringing to Victoria, at last, the first shipment of Persian and Turkish Rugs ever brought through direct from Constantinople. These Rugs have just reached us, and, had we been gifted with remarkable foresight, and seen the great world war coming, we could not have put our order through more opportunely. Victoria will not see other genuine Oriental Rugs than these for a long time to come, and prices will advance enormously on the stock now in the country.

This is the opportunity of every Oriental Rug lover in or near Victoria. This will be a genuine sale event, an opportunity to secure magnificent Rugs at bargain prices. Every item of this great shipment of eleven bales of first grade Rugs will be offered at our store in this great

of the Finest Collection of

ORIENTAL RUGS

Ever Brought to Victoria

Wednesday, Nov. 3 and After

It is a rather peculiar fact that the bulk of the finest Persian Rugs are sold at Constantinople, while the greater part of the finest Turkish Rugs go to Smyrna. The Rugs contained in this shipment were selected for us by an expert known to us at Constantinople. He took advantage of prevailing conditions, and although he advised us that he had secured some very handsome Rugs, the opening of the bales at our warehouse Saturday was a genuine surprise to us. No such Rugs have ever been shown here in such quantities. These Rugs have never seen the inside of a salesroom before. Unlike most of the Oriental Rugs offered in this country, they are fresh from the Orient. The shipment represents $50,000 worth of Rugs, including magnificent examples of the Rugs of Sarook, Keshan, Kermanshah, Kazak, Shirvan, Kabistan, Iran, Tabriz, Meshed, Turpof, Beluchistan, Senna, Bergamo, Anatolian, Bokhara, Shiraz, Khiva, Sparta, Jeypur, Amritsar, Feraghan, Sumak, and Kelin.

The entire shipment will be on display to the public generally Monday and Tuesday of this week. No sales will be made, but experts will be on hand to explain the Rugs and their history to all who desire to avail themselves of this opportunity to see this splendid collection.

The matter since the council considered it, has been awaiting for the consent of the owners interested.

Committed to Jail.—There were two judgment debtors who did not appear in county court this morning at the opening of the November term to explain why they are not meeting the judgments found against them. In both cases orders were made for the commitment of the men to jail for ten days, but in one case the order will lie in the office of the registrar for a short time to give the debtor another chance to show that his intentions are honest.

Contribution to Patriotic Fund.—The teachers of the city schools, aided by the school board staff, contributed $635 during October to the Victoria Patriotic Aid society. Considerable feeling has been aroused among the teachers by a reflection in a correspondent's letter in the Times on Saturday that the school board made a levy and called it a "voluntary" contribution.

As a matter of fact the Teachers' Institute took the matter up quite independently of the board, and was one of the first bodies to offer a stated sum per member per month. The board has never figured in the matter at all.

Despard Wright, for the liquidator, that there was any preference. The court asked counsel to state a case for the opinion of the court, and this will be done at once.

NATURALIZATION OF GERMANS AND OTHERS

County Court Reserves Action on These Cases Until Government Announces Its Will

The somewhat peculiar proposition was laid down in county court this morning by an applicant for naturalization that the private individual had nothing to do with war, but that it is a matter between state and state.

There were two Germans and two Austrians among the sixteen applicants whose cases were before Judge Lappman for the issue of the certificate which declares them to be citizens of Canada. In regard to the subjects of these and other enemy nations, his honor stated that they would have to wait for further investigation. He mentioned that the newspapers announced the coming appointment of some officer by the federal government to deal with this matter. Hitherto the practice of the courts throughout the Dominion, since the outbreak of war, had been to refuse all applications for naturalization on subjects of the countries which were at war with the British empire, and since the announcement now made it would not be proper for the courts to grant certificates until it was known what the will of the government was.

E. L. Tait, acting for Dr. Ludwig H. Loenholm, said his client had applied for naturalization on the opening of the October term, that if facts of sufficient weight were brought to the attention of the court naturalization would be granted. As a matter of fact, Dr. Loenholm did not consider that under German law he was any longer a subject of that country, his citizenship lapsing automatically in this way, yet no one thought of making God responsible. Was the same not true of war? War was murder, bloodshed, carnage, but the nation for several years had been sowing the seeds of militarism, forced to this by one or two nations which were militaristic.

Dr. Loenholm being in court, his honor consented to hear him. The applicant stated that his father was a Dane, but he himself was born in Germany. He had left his native land 25 years ago and for 18 years he was an active citizen of the Empire of Japan. About eight years ago he had settled here permanently. All his investments, which were very heavy, were in this province, and largely in the city. Quoting from the German statutes, Dr. Loenholm said that if a person absent from Germany for ten years, and he registered periodically with the German consul, forfeited his citizenship. He had never registered nor had he ever become a citizen of any other country. He had not been reporting to the police as he did not look upon himself as a German.

Having stated to his counsel that he had been advised that he need not take out citizenship papers, Judge Lappman asked whose advice he had taken. Dr. Loenholm replied that two years ago Sir Richard McBride had told him that there was no need for him to become naturalized; that there was no difference made here between foreigners and Canadians.

P. J. Stacpoole, K. C., interposed to inform the court that the applicant was a plaintiff in an action in that court, and thus his status was a matter of considerable immediate importance, and the whole question of the right of aliens to maintain an action while their country was at war with that to which they were suing, had been a late decision in the courts, but there were other decisions which went contrary to this on the same point.

"This gentleman is a lawyer in his own country," counsel continued. "We as lawyers have to swear allegiance to our own sovereign before we can practice and probably he had to swear allegiance to his sovereign in the same way. The fact that he was a lawyer in his citizenship does not disprove the fact that he is not exempt from military service if he were to return to Germany to-day."

"A private individual has nothing to do with the war," said Dr. Loenholm; "war is between state and state."

In reply to his honor Dr. Loenholm said he had no property in Germany. Mrs. Loenholm is a German woman. He had visited Germany about eight years ago.

The court reserved a decision. Dr. Loenholm, according to "Who's Who," has received several decorations for his abilities as a lawyer, including the third class of the Sacred Treasure and Rising Sun, Japan; third class of the Crown of Germany; third class of the Iron Crown, Austria; Order of Academic and Order de l'Instruction Publique, France.

John Czark is an Austrian, and as he was in court also he was questioned by his counsel, W. P. Marchant. He was born in the province of Moravia on January 1, 1885, moved to Vienna when he was thirteen and to London when he was seventeen. In 1910 he came to Canada, and after working as a waiter in the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec, was transferred to the Empress hotel here in October, 1911. His wife is an Englishwoman and there are two children. He has invested his savings to the extent of $1,400 in property in Edmonton, Fraser Lake and Hardy Valley.

In this case, also, decision was reserved. The applications before the court in addition to these and the other two aliens from warring countries included one citizen of the United States, four of Sweden, two Russians, two Norwegians, one Italian, one Finn and one Greek.

PREACHES SERMON ABOUT ATROCITIES

Rev. Thomas Green Tells Hearers Choice Between Good and Evil Lies With Man

In a very thoughtful sermon yesterday Rev. Thomas Green, pastor of the Centennial Methodist church, answered a question which he stated had been directly asked of him, and which he had heard expressed on several occasions: "Why does not God prevent the German atrocities?"

Taking the fact that there were atrocities in the present war, Mr. Green proceeded to explain why God did not prevent these, parenthetically remarking that he had not yet brought himself to believe that the dreadful acts reported had had the sanction of all the German people, and were, rather, to be put down to a few German officers and men only.

There was an easy answer to the question—that God had made the world, and had then handed it over to the devil. But he was not willing to accept such a solution. War was of the devil, but God was still in the world working in the interests of His Kingdom.

In creating mankind God in His wisdom did not make man characterless; he gave the power of choice between good and evil. Man's nature was such that if God tried to force him to righteousness he would resist it. Discipline, temperance, all the social evils that the nations are subject to, were matters of choice. In the United States, for example, one person died every eight minutes as the direct result of the liquor traffic. There were more people dying in the world every year from drink and disease than in this war, yet no one thought of making God responsible. Was the same not true of war? War was murder, bloodshed, carnage, but the nation for several years had been sowing the seeds of militarism, forced to this by one or two nations which were militaristic.

More for permitting this than for permitting social suffering of any kind? The nations could get rid of war if they wanted to. They had the power of choice. The atrocities were just an expression of what war was at the best of times. It was only a question of degree. Maddened with the mental strain, drink and lack of food, the atrocities had been but a natural sequence.

Although the student might find excuses in these last named things for the dreadful atrocities which had happened, yet nothing could justify them. They were sinful, unrighteous, and unjust. But it was not for man to forbid, hatred in his heart. God's words, "Vengeance is mine; I will repay," should be remembered. God was working, had been working through the long ages, to uplift man from savagery through barbarism to civilization. He was still working for that higher protection; that ideal conceived by Jesus Christ when He spoke of the Kingdom of God. That was why God did not just now step in temporarily and stop the atrocities. He had a greater work, a more permanent object; the final uplift of the race. This would come through man himself, who, choosing for himself between good and evil, would rise stronger and more to that final state where he could resist all temptation to wrong-doing. In overthrowing social evils the nations would rise to their own salvation. Even now there had sprung up a revolt against such cruelties as were being witnessed in the present war, and the peoples of the earth were being strengthened in their love of righteousness.

DEFENDED HIMSELF Benjamin Rawlings His Own Counsel When Charged With Breaking Window.

Having no lawyer to represent him, Benjamin Rawlings, who is charged with breaking the plate glass window of the Manitoba hotel on October 13 last, put up a very spirited defence on his own account in the police court this morning. Another charge of assault is being laid against him for an alleged attack on Thomas Owen, and both cases will be finished to-morrow.

The extent of the damage to the window is estimated at $23.75, while the attack on Owen is said to have taken place some hours after the alleged offence in the Manitoba hotel. The prisoner pleads not guilty to both charges.

J. W. Smith, licensee of the Manitoba hotel, was the first witness called. He recounted the happenings of the night in question, told of putting out an associate of the prisoner's, his return and final election by a larnard. It was then that Rawlings had picked up his empty beer glass and, flung it straight through the front window of the bar-room. In reply to questions by the prisoner, Smith denied ever having taken the associate of the prisoner by the throat, or attempting to kick him in the stomach. He denied also that there was a "free-for-all" in the bar, or that he had ever in his life addressed any words to the prisoner.

J. Walsh, another eye-witness, corroborated the testimony about the throwing of the tumbler through the window, the truth of which was affirmed by two other witnesses in Thomas Owen and Leonard Haidel.

In his own defence the accused complained bitterly of the manner in which the charge had been allowed to wait until his own witnesses had gone away to the front. He called the information "strumped up affair," and denied that he had ever broken any glass. He had not been in hiding for the past three weeks, nor did he have any idea that the police were looking for him. He had been drinking with some friends on the night in question, and one of his pals got excited, whereupon the

A MOTOR ACCIDENT

Details Given in Hearing at Police Court; Man Was Injured.

After four witnesses had affirmed that the car driven by J. Y. Margison had passed a street car standing at the corner of Superior and Government streets on October 24, Magistrate Jay fined the defendant $20 for his contravention of the M. or act. The offence was denied by the owner of the car, and his own testimony was corroborated by that of Mrs. Margison, who had been with him in the car at the time.

Limping painfully, and showing a bandaged hand, Leslie D. Lord told of getting off the front of the street car when the vehicle was standing. He saw the motor coming, and at a loss what to do for a minute finally jumped the car. He heard a crash and went unconscious. He received certain injuries.

A. D. Cadeneh, a foreman at the parliament buildings, who was standing at the corner of Superior and Government streets at the time of the accident, related seeing the street car, stops at the corner and finally the coming of the motor. After the motor had passed the rear end of the street car he heard a crash and went and picked up the unconscious man.

Motorman O'Hara, of the R. C. Electric railway, who was driving the Outer Wharf car at the time, recounted stopping at the corner in question, and letting off Lord. He had not started the street car again when the motor came along and knocked the man down. His evidence was corroborated by Conductor Marsden, who, however, differed a little from his driver as the actual position of the street car at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Margison stated that their car reached the rear end of the street car two-thirds of the distance between Elliott street and Superior. She never saw the car strike the man, but felt the jar when the collision occurred. She stated that the motor was past the rear end of the street car when the latter was brought to a standstill. Similar evidence was given by the defendant himself. The first thing he saw of Lord was when he "loomed up out of the darkness and seemed to slide right beneath the car."

GAVE STIRRING ADDRESS. Rev. E. W. Stapleford Spoke in James Bay Methodist Church on the Great Crisis.

Rev. E. D. Stapleford, of Vancouver, recently returned after spending the summer in the British Isles, occupied the pulpit of James Bay Methodist church last evening and delivered an address on the topic, "England and the War." He called particular attention to the calm, quiet spirit with which the people of Britain to-day are facing the greatest crisis in the history of the world, and described very graphically the state of London just immediately before the war and the night war was declared. He also paid great tribute to the magnificent

Prices Not Subject to Pressure; Portland Canal Closes Unchanged

Russ

Little or no animation marked the local list of prices this morning, but excepting for some freer offer in Coronation Gold no genuine pressure was apparent throughout the session.

Portland Canal held up and eventually closed unchanged from Saturday, traders in the issue having assumed a waiting attitude.

While this stock is bereft of buying inquiry, not much can be expected in the way of an upward movement.

New York, Nov. 2.—Criminal indictments were returned to-day by the United States grand jury against 21 directors of the New Haven railroad system, including William Rockefeller, Theodore N. Vail, George F. Baker, W. M. Skinner and Charles F. Brocker and John L. Billard.

The indictments charge conspiracy in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law to monopolize commerce. Under section 2 of the law, under which they were returned, the maximum penalty upon conviction is one year in prison and $5,000 fine.

VISIBLE SUPPLY WAS BEARISH INFLUENCE

Bullish Enthusiasm Still Present but Checked Temporarily

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

Chicago, Nov. 2.—It is very clear that the heavy marketing of wheat in this country, the increase in local stocks, the further increase in the visible to close to 60,000,000 are the influences holding the market somewhat in check—against the bullish foreign news and the reports from Duluth, seaboard and other quarters indicating a heavy day of export sales. From the local trade forced the December off early to 115.

Group of large houses active on buying side of corn during the morning were largely responsible for the upturn in December, May sold 7 1/4 and up to a split over 7 1/2 and had about half cent reaction. Trade was of the opinion that the buying of December was based on shipping or export sales. Chicago stocks decreased for the week only 35,000 bushels, compared with 3,500,000 year ago.

GUTIERREZ IS NEXT MEXICAN PRESIDENT

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 2.—The conference of revolutionary chiefs at Aguas Calientes has disregarded General Carranza's protest and elected Eulalio Gutierrez provisional president of Mexico, according to an official report reaching the border to-day.

Mexico City, Nov. 2.—A dispatch received here from Aguas Calientes says that General Eulalio Gutierrez was elected provisional president of Mexico shortly after midnight last night. The election is for a period of twenty days only.

BELIEVE WILSON WILL BE CANDIDATE AGAIN

Washington, Nov. 2.—On the eve of the congressional election it became known to-day that men close to President Wilson are working on the understanding that he will be a candidate in 1916, despite his own silence on the subject, and that they have begun preparations for the campaign.

ROCKEFELLER MONEY TO ASSIST BELGIANS

Sending Relief Ship to Europe Involves Expenditure of $175,000.

New York, Nov. 2.—To lose no time in carrying out its decision announced yesterday to help the destitute non-combatants in Europe with the Rockefeller millions, the Rockefeller Foundation was engrossed to-day with plans for getting the first relief ship away to-morrow and immediately sending its own commission to Europe to direct further work.

This is the first time that the Rockefeller Foundation, whose endowment is $100,000,000, has undertaken charitable work in such a direct and wholesale way, its philanthropies heretofore having been concerned mainly with work along scientific lines. The first move in sending a relief ship to Europe involves an outlay of $275,000, and from the announcement of plans it would appear that this was only a small part of what was contemplated and the appropriation might rank as the largest individual donation ever made for war relief.

The steamer Massapequa, which has been chartered from the New York and Porto line, will be loaded and able to leave New York for Rotterdam as planned, to-morrow with 4,000 tons of flour, rice and beans.

SERVIANS DRIVE OFF ATTACK AT EMINOVA

Nish, Serbia, Oct. 31.—Via London, Nov. 2.—A semi-official note has been issued here as follows: "The enemy operating October 29 in the direction of Gutchevo, bombarded our positions at Eminova and Banja from 7 o'clock in the morning until noon. At this hour they attacked but were repulsed by our troops. Our counter attack developed into a violent bayonet combat, in which the enemy, sustaining heavy losses, was forced to fall back in disorder, leaving three officers and about 400 men on the field.

"The enemy delivered another attack on our positions in the evening, but was again forced to retire with heavy losses. "Nothing of importance has occurred on the remainder of the front."

FORT VERMATZ BLOWN UP BY MONTENEGRINS

Paris, Nov. 2.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Cetinje, dated Sunday, says: "The Montenegrin artillery yesterday continued the bombardment of Fort Vermatz, near Cattaro, Dalmatia. A shell penetrated the ammunition depot, blowing up the fort. The Montenegrins, marching on Gasko, in Herzegovina, near the Montenegrin frontier, yesterday occupied an important position at Kobina, inflicting an appreciable loss on the enemy."

DELAYED CABLES CAUSE QUICK WHEAT BUYING

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—Receipts were fairly heavy on the home market and primaries in the south extremely so, which caused a somewhat easier feeling at the opening, and wheat prices were unchanged to lower. Following the opening, the delayed Liverpool cables arrived and reported an advance on both spot and futures, causing good buying here. At about noon the advance on Winnipeg was 1/2c on all months. Oats opened 1/2c higher, and flax opened easier. At the close wheat options were 1/2c to 1 1/2c higher, oats 1/2c to 1c higher, and flax 1/2c to 3/4c higher.

The cash demand for all grades of wheat and oats was good, barley and flax not quite so good as recently. The buyers were principally exporters, and good export trade continued. In evidence, one prominent firm had bids accepted over the week-end for 30,000 bushels, and more sales were expected to be worked this forenoon. Inspections were 744 cars for two days, and in eight were 600.

TURKEY APOLOGIZES FOR BEGINNING WAR

Martial Law Proclaimed by Great Britain Throughout Egypt To-day

NO DECLARATION OF WAR SENT BY GREAT BRITAIN

Russian Ambassador Received Hint Saturday That Apology Might Come

London, Nov. 2.—The grand vizier of Turkey has apologized for recent events in the Black Sea.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Martial law was proclaimed by Great Britain to-day throughout Egypt. An official notice by the British charge d'affaires at Cairo was delivered to American diplomatic agents there. On orders from London the commander-in-chief of the British forces took command of the general situation with orders to suppress all outbreaks.

Russia has ordered all German and Austrian subjects to leave Russia within the next two weeks, according to a notification received to-day by the United States government.

Delayed messages from Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople, dated late Saturday, received here to-day, say the Turkish ministers of agriculture and interior, through a neutral diplomat, asked the Russian ambassador before his departure what terms would pacify Russia and if an apology would be satisfactory. The Russian ambassador replied that he had instructions to leave Constantinople but that if all the German officers were dismissed from the Turkish navy and the Russian further instructions from Petrograd, he would return. Ambassador Morgenthau assisted in arranging a special train for the British, French and Russian ambassadors who left yesterday and later arranged for another special train to remove the panic-stricken Americans.

London, Nov. 2.—Although four days have passed since Turkish warships ran amuck in the Black sea, neither Russia nor Great Britain had, up to noon to-day, so far as was known in London, opened the offensive or even formally declared war against Turkey. The British press treats the situation as having reached a stage permitting no about-face by the Turkish government. Thus, while the struggle in France and Belgium remained undecided, Germany and Austria have at last acquired their first ally, and the area of the fighting in the great war has spread over the borders of Asia into Egypt.

It is understood here that the government had given Turkey one last chance to disavow her intention of making war on the powers of the entente. This step was taken because the foreign office is not positive that its first note ever reached the Turkish government. The advanced stage of the preparations of the Turkish ambassador to London to depart from London was not permitted to operate against this final endeavor.

SECRET SERVICE MEN TO GUARD WELLAND CANAL

Welland, Ont., Nov. 2.—United States secret service men have discovered a plot to blow up the Welland canal and the Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo railway tunnel at Hamilton, according to information received by the Dominion government. Every available secret service man in the employ of the Canadian government and detectives of the Canadian Pacific railroad were summoned to-day to meet in Toronto, whence they will leave to patrol the tunnel at Hamilton and the canal from St. Catharines to Lake Erie. The canal has been under guard of Dominion troops since the outbreak of the war.

DETACHMENTS ARRIVE

Outside Members of Second Contingent Are Beginning to Come In; Home Guard Parades; Smoker.

The first of the outside detachments for the second contingent are arriving this afternoon from the mainland and others will continue to come in during the week. At the Willows camp all the men are busy as bees getting ready for the newcomers and all is animation over the prospect of getting to the front in a reasonably short time.

The only men who are depressed are the officers and men of the B. C. Horse, who are eating their heads off waiting to see what will be done by the government to dispatch them to the scene of action. All ranks are bearing the enforced inaction and uncertainty very well, but they say they cannot go on for ever waiting, like Micawber, to see what will turn up.

All the companies of the Victoria Volunteer Guard will parade to-night at eight o'clock at the headquarters, Strathcona Hotel block, Douglas street, except company D, and that company will parade at the same hour to-morrow evening. This will be for company drill in both cases.

With a view to forming a volunteer reserve a notice is issued by W. Crow, calling upon all who wish to organize a reserve to attend a meeting at the drill hall this evening at eight o'clock. Captains W. H. Langley and D. B. McConnan will be present.

On Saturday evening Boyle's contingent from Dawson were entertained to a smoking concert at the Dominion hotel. John Grant, ex-mayor of Victoria, well-known to all old-timers and Yukoners, presided, supported by Hon. Dr. Young, provincial secretary, who gave a very interesting address. About 40 of the B. C. Horse were present, and several of their number contributed song and story to the programme. Amongst the Dawson contingent are some very talented entertainers, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent.

The Victoria squadron of the B. C. Horse are giving a dance on Friday evening from nine o'clock to 2 a. m. in the ballroom of the Alexandra Club, and they hope to see a large gathering of their friends on that occasion. Owing to the kindness of the committee of management of the club the squadron is getting the hall at a very moderate sum, and the men expect that they will thus be able to augment the funds of the patriotic aid society to a considerable amount.

Heaton's orchestra of five pieces will play a selection of the latest dance music, and a buffet supper is being provided by Maistris. Any information regarding the dance can be obtained from Trooper Baugh Allen, at telephone 5010, one of the committee in charge of the event. Other members of the committee are Troopers H. Trueman, A. D. Davis, B. Wardle, S. D. H. Pope and G. Harnick.

Capt. Craig, M. P., one of the Ulster leaders, has cabled to a friend here a call for volunteers ready to proceed on active service with the Ulster divisions of the new army being raised in the United Kingdom. He desires that all former officers who are willing to go to the front with the men from the north should cable him their names and ranks at the Ulster headquarters in Belfast.

Will Commence Campaign.—The big tri-city membership campaign between the Y. M. C. A.'s of Victoria, Vancouver, and New Westminster, will open this evening, the inaugural event here to be a banquet which is to take place at the association building at 416. At the banquet leaders of the local campaign teams and the other members will be sworn in, and at 7 o'clock the more strenuous part of the fight will commence in earnest, to last until the end of the week.

Underwriters Return.—A deputation, consisting of President R. W. Douglas, J. A. Greenhill, R. E. Brett and Secretary J. L. Noble, of the Board of Fire Underwriters, returned from San Francisco to-day. The object of the visit to the managers in San Francisco was to obtain extended powers for the local board. This request was readily granted, and will have a very far-reaching effect in putting into force the contemplated reduction in rates in Victoria, for which an inspection has been in progress for some time.

FAREWELL BANQUET

Ministerial Association Bids Good-bye to Rev. T. W. Gladstone; Many Expressions of Appreciation.

Rev. Thomas Green presided at the farewell luncheon accorded Rev. T. W. Gladstone, the retiring pastor of the Reformed Episcopal church, held at 12.30 p. m. to-day at the Y. M. C. A. Rev. Joseph McCoy in the absence of Rev. D. W. Ganton, secretary of the Ministerial association, which tendered the luncheon, did secretarial duty.

Sixteen of the ministers of the city were present altogether, and also Captain Merritt, of the Salvation army, and Mr. Witham, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Rev. d'B. Owen, successor to Mr. Gladstone, was introduced to the association. A letter which embodied the general feeling of the meeting was read on behalf of the association by Rev. Mr. McCoy, and expressed the feeling of appreciation with which the society regarded this one of its retiring members.

Eminent amongst the speakers was the venerable Dr. John Reid, one of the oldest ministers in the city, and for many years a member of this association. The following others also spoke: Rev. Dr. Leslie Clay, representing the Presbyterians; Rev. John Robson, representing the Methodists; Rev. Mr. Thorpe, for the Baptists; Captain Merritt, the Salvation Army; and Mr. Witham, the Y. M. C. A. Rev. Dr. Macfay, as one of the oldest members of the association, was also called upon to speak.

In general the speakers emphasized in their remarks their appreciation of Mr. Gladstone's ardent and earnest fight on behalf of temperance and moral reform, in connection with both of which he had made a contribution to the city life. The sermon, which was introduced in reference to his sunny disposition, and his frequent words of good cheer to the brethren when they met. They spoke also of his strenuous work amongst his own congregation, and his close adherence to the Word of God in his teachings. Rev. Mr. Gladstone in his reply said a few simple words of farewell, and thanked all for their kind expressions. Rev. S. J. Thompson closed the program with prayer, and Rev. J. G. Inkster pronounced the benediction.

RULES WILL BE READY

Regulations for Vacant Lots Cultivation Scheme Will Be Issued This Week.

Copies of the regulations for the vacant lots cultivation scheme under the auspices of the Victoria and Island Development association will be ready for the public on Wednesday. The rules have already been drawn up and will be submitted to the department of agriculture before being issued. The movement has been to some extent held back in order that the other schemes could be undertaken, and in order that the necessary lots suitable for cultivation could be secured. It was necessary that the market should be first proved a success, so that producers should know what opportunity there would be for the disposal of the surplus produce after providing for home consumption. The committee now feels that the time is ripe for sending the rules to the department officials for approval. Only amateurs will be allowed to compete for the prizes offered by the association and the government.

Although the Made-in-Victoria exhibition is over, the association is carrying on its work in the way of aiding the manufacturers to secure orders, and in acting as a complaints department in order to bring to the attention of manufacturers points, in which their wares are stated by consumers not to be equal to outside brands. The association is also endeavoring to place the manufacturers in a position to correct any shortcomings.

The public is invited, particularly business men and former residents of the prairie provinces, to assist in Newspaper Day on November 20. Orders may be placed with the newspaper, and copies will be wrapped for mailing. Many people have desired to send to their friends just the information which will be contained in these issues, so the opportunity should not be lost.

Automobile Accident.—Automobile No. 6045 was badly smashed up this morning in skidding on the wet pavement on Quadra street, near Queen's avenue, the car body being smashed, a wheel wrenched off and the top damaged.

LUZON MARU CARRIED TROOPS TO TSING TAU

Steamship Made One Trip From Japan; Was Formerly British Monarch

Many of the Japanese soldiers who are now before the fortress of Tsing Tau were carried across from Japan by the Osaka Shosen Kaisha steamship Luzon Maru, which was in port yesterday. Immediately after Japan's declaration of war upon Germany, the Luzon Maru, with a member of other mercantile vessels, was requisitioned by the Japanese government as a troopship. She was hastily fitted out for the work and made one trip to the place where the troops were landed. The Luzon Maru then returned to Japan and as the government had no further use for her she was released and at once ordered by the owners to load for Victoria and Puget Sound.

The officers and men on the Luzon Maru were very anxious upon their arrival yesterday to keep all the news about Tsing Tau. Through the fact that they are intimately acquainted with many of the men who are now storming the fortress and also played a small part in the plan of the government to dispatch troops and capture the German fortifications, the men on the Luzon are taking a great interest in the struggle now in progress in the Far East.

Was British Monarch.—This is the first visit of the Luzon Maru to this port. Under the Union Jack the vessel made many trips to Puget Sound. Some two years ago the steamship, then the British Monarch, was purchased by the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, and ever since that time has been operating in the Far East. About two years ago the Japanese steamship company bought up a great deal of British tonnage and the British Monarch was one of the vessels which changed flags.

PROTECTION OF MINORS

Court Insists on Knowing That Inheritance, Impelled in One Trust Company, Will Be Safe in Another.

What is not unlikely to be the first of many such applications was made in supreme court chambers this morning to Mr. Justice Gregory for the appointment of other trustees for an estate than the Dominion Trust company, now in liquidation.

Frank Higgins made the application on behalf of three Chinese minors, out of four—the elder having come of age—Chang Shun Sang, Chang Shun Chang, Chang Shun Sing and Chang Shun Lai. These were plaintiffs through their next friend, Low Noh, in a suit against the executor under a will, Chan Bo Hin and Chan Kai Dong, and the result was the appointment by the courts of the Dominion Trust company as trustees of a considerable estate belonging to the children.

The money was partly invested in first mortgages, but there was a sum of $18,000 which was not so invested but was sent over to Vancouver and apparently, according to the affidavits in the case, went into the hands of the head office. Mr. Higgins presumed that it was lost to the heirs except to whatever extent the assets of the insolvent company would meet the liabilities. He asked that the Canadian Financiers' Trust company be named as trustee instead of the Dominion Trust.

In reply to questions from the court, it appeared that the trust company had never given any bond for the proper performance of its trust in this particular case, a fact at which his lordship expressed his amazement. Although counsel was satisfied that the interests of his clients would be safe with the company he named his lordship took the view that the court must take every precaution in order that these heirs should not lose what was left to their inheritance. He refused to make any order until it is shown whether the company can be called upon to give a bond.

Mr. Higgins is to consult the official guardian in the matter.

CHURCH OF OUR LORD

Rev. T. W. Gladstone, on Fortieth Anniversary of Reformed Episcopal Church

The Reformed Episcopal church yesterday passed its fortieth anniversary, and although the special anniversary services will not be held until a later date, no members of the congregation were unconscious of the significance of the day. It was a coincidence, perhaps, that the occasion was marked by the farewell sermons by Rev. T. W. Gladstone, who has resigned his charge after waiting several months for the appointment of a new clergyman to succeed him, and yesterday Rev. A. D. B. Owen, his successor, assisted at the services by reading the lessons and conducting the ante-communion rites.

In the morning Rev. Mr. Gladstone preached from the text: "I have not shunned to declare unto you the whole counsel of God." His sermon was a synopsis of his preaching at the Church of Our Lord during the whole period of his incumbency in this city. In the course of this review the speaker set forth in a concise statement something of what he considered to be the message which God had given him for his people. The message included, perhaps, things which were not very pleasing for the congregation to hear or for the pastor to speak. But it included also more cheerful messages. These he had delivered, not because they were comfortable, but because he believed that God had given him these things to say as well as the others.

In his evening sermon Mr. Gladstone said farewell to his people, the word of comfort and encouragement being included in his text: "Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect; be of good comfort; be of one mind, and of the God of love and peace shall be with you."

This he left with them as counsel for the future in the church. It was his farewell message of encouragement for them to go forward in the days yet to come. Proceeding he dealt with each point of Paul's farewell to the Corinthians, commencing with a definition of the phrases: "Be of good comfort," and concluding with the assurance conveyed in the Divine promise that they who were with Him should lack nothing.

Hymns suitable for All Saints' day were selected for the morning and evening services, and on both occasions the special prayer written by the late Bishop of Exeter and especially suitable for use on the anniversary of "their deliverance from bondage" was delivered. At the morning services Stainer's beautiful anthem, "What are these angels in white robes?" was sung by the choir.

Mr. Gladstone, accompanied by Mrs. Gladstone, will leave on the Friday boat for Long Beach, California, where he will enjoy a much-needed rest for the winter months, having been forced to decline a very attractive call to a church at Newburgh, New York, owing to ill-health. His successor, Rev. Mr. Owen, who is a brother of Rev. Cecil Owen, of Christ church, Vancouver, will assume full charge of the services next Sunday.

An English colonel, at kit inspection, said to Private Flanagan: "Hut! Yes, shirts, socks, flannels, all very good. Now, can you assure me that all the articles of your kit have buttons on them?" "No, sir," said Private Flanagan, hesitating. "How's that, sir?" "Aint no buttons on the towels sir!"

Dr. Chase is No Stranger

In This Home—Receipt Book and Medicines Kept at Hand All the Time.

There is no better safeguard against disease and suffering than a good cathartic medicine. In the great majority of homes Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are constantly kept at hand, because they quickly awaken the action of liver, kidneys and bowels, and cure the most common ills of life. Mrs. Thos. Smith, Jamestown, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase is no stranger in our home, for we have two of his Receipt Books in the house. My father and my husband's father each had one, and I have been familiar with it ever since I can remember. It was only natural that we should use the Kidney-Liver Pills, and we found them so satisfactory in regulating the digestive system and curing the common ills of life that we always keep them on hand. Many a time these pills have saved me much suffering and prevented serious disease. We also keep the Ointment in the house all the time."
